Australia Wins the 2002 Women's Championship

In the closest finish in history, Australia made up a three-stroke deficit and won by tiebreaker over Thailand its first title since 1978 at the 20th Women's World Amateur Team Championship. The Championship was played at Saujana Golf & Country Club in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, and was hosted by the Malaysian Golf Association.

"It's unbelievable," said Australian captain Liz Cavill. "I thought we could do it. The team is just so talented. They ground it out very hard. It's a dream for us all."

With two of three players' scores counting each day, both teams finished 72 holes at 6-under-par 578 on the par-73 Palm and Bunga Raya Courses at Saujana.

The Australian team, led by Lindsey Wright (72) and Katherine Hull (73), shot 1-under-par 145 on the Palm Course the final day. The tiebreaker, however, was awarded to the Australians because their third player's score the final day was lower than that of Thailand's third player. This came from Vicky Uwland, who shot 5-over-par 78 compared to an 8-over-par 81 from Titiya Plucksataporn.

The Winning Team From Australia (see page 10).

Wright and Hull, who are teammates at Pepperdine University in California, USA, helped Australia move steadily up the standings during each day of the championship.

Going into the fourth round, Thailand, with excellent play from 16-year-old American-based identical twins, Naree and Aree Song Wongluekiet, led by one stroke over Spain and by three over Australia and Germany but could not maintain the lead they held for the first

After placing 20th on the first day, the Aussies moved into fifth with a 6-under-par performance on the second day. They climbed again on the third day with a 5-under-par score and were tied for third.

"When we were standing at tied for third, there was only one place to go and that was to one," said Cavill, who played in the Espirito Santo three times for Australia.

Thailand, which was seeking to become the seventh wire-to-wire winner, was playing in just its third championship, with a best finish of 18th in its debut in 1984. Aree posted a 1-under-par 72 and her sister, Naree, registered a 3-over-par 76 in the final round.

"This week it was the battle of the mentally tough," said Hull of Australia. "With the heat and courses being so difficult, it comes down to the mental game. We decided to gut it out and it paid off."

Aree Song Wongluekiet agreed that it was a grueling week with four days of practice and four days of competition.

"I didn't feel like we lost," said A. Song Wongluekiet. "Everyone on our team played consistently. It was hot and it was a long week. The club got heavy at the end and the hills were getting steep, but I am proud of the way we played."

Spain, which entered the final day a stroke behind Thailand, finished third at 5-under-par 579. Germany placed fourth at 3-under-par 581. The USA team was fifth at even-par 584, its 19th top-five finish in 20 events. Defending champion France finished tied for 15th at 13-over-par 597.

United States Wins the 2002 Men's Championship

Bolstered by a 6-under-par 66 from D.J. Trahan on the final day, the USA won the 23rd World Amateur Team Championship by three strokes over France at Saujana Golf & Country Club, in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. The Championship was hosted by the Malaysian Golf Association.

"That was as fine a round of golf as you will see at the amateur level," said USA captain O. Gordon Brewer Jr. of Trahan's round that included five birdies, a bogey and an eagle. "He picked the team up on his shoulders."

The USA recorded a four-day total of 8-under-par 568 and made a successful defense of the Eisenhower Trophy, which it won for a record 12th time. Trahan, who was 2-under-par after nine holes, eagled the par-5 13th hole and then finished with birdies on the 17th and 18th holes.

The Winning USA Team (see page 57).

For the champions, 2002 U.S. Amateur champion Ricky Barnes shot 2-over-par 74 and helped the USA register a 4-under-par total of 140 on the final day.

Trahan's 66 tied for the lowest individual round of the championship (with Edoardo Molinari of Italy in the third round) and was the second-lowest final round in 23 playings of the championship.

France began the final round with a three-stroke lead over the USA.

"We are disappointed but we are very proud for our country and our game in this championship and under this pressure," said Raphaël Pellicioli of France, the 2002 European Amateur champion.

The French runner-up finish was their highest in 23 appearances in the

The USA had jumped out to a 5-stroke advantage after the first day on a 5-under-par 68 from 2002 U.S. Amateur runner-up Hunter Mahan and a 3-under-par 69 from Barnes. Despite dropping five shots to par in the second round, they were still tied for the lead with France.

In round three, the French used a 68 from Pellicioli and a 71 from Grégory Bourdy, to put themselves into a three-shot lead, but could not halt the USA charge in the final round

Australia and the Philippines tied for third place at 2-under-par 574 followed by Austria and New Zealand, who were joint fifth at 1-under-par 574.

Heavy early morning rain and lightning activity on the last day forced a change in the championship format. Invoking a condition of play, the IGF Championship Committee decided to implement a cut following the third round and limited play in the fourth round to the leading 20 teams. Play started at the 1st and 10th tees of the Palm Course only.

All teams in positions 21-63 did not play a fourth round and their final positions were determined by their total scores after 54 holes.

"The IGF Championship Committee regrets that it was not possible for all teams to complete 72 holes," said IGF Joint Secretary Peter Dawson. "But, this decision was made in view of the weather forecast and the need to concentrate maintenance resources on one course."

The best individual score of the week was from Marcus Fraser of Australia, who shot 7-under-par 281.
