Dear Douglas, I have not replied to your letter before because I feel quite unable to pick the team off my own bat.
You will appreciate that I haven't the foggiest idea what kind of form Woodward is in, and, except for the match at Breda, where I played with Ragless, I don't know what he is capable of.
You will, of course, know more about his play than I do, and I feel that I could not properly pick the team unaided, so consider that the only course is to wait until we meet at "de Pann", when you, John and myself could knock our heads together.
As a matter of fact I purposed paying you a visit late on Sunday last, but I have been overpowered by orders for new clubs that I could not get away.
I suppose it seems strange to say that I am busy with clubmaking at this time of the year, but such is the fact.
We have had several new members recently who anted the usual outfits, and there have been several competitions running concurrently with the usual rule that several members have suddenly discovered that all the heads of their clubs are use, or a horn bit is required, or a new face anted, only on the eve or day of the competition.

I know the usual trick.

My many thanks for your esteemed order for Wormford, which I trust you received O.K.
I will put a few in my bag for you when packing for the "Hermitage".
With you to please be good enough to send 6 dozen "Bridge" Gyps for me.

all the best,

Bert.
