Dear Douglas,

It appears that when Witte was here a couple of weeks ago he told Dirk that there was to be a special competition held at Hilversum for the purpose of qualifying to play against Belgium in our annual match with them. I realise, of course, that it must be only a suggestion, but I do think that the idea of qualifying is a wise one, providing its scope will be sufficient to entirely rule out the possibility of any fluky results. My own idea is that the qualifying test should operate over our three principal competitions, namely, the Harlequin Cup match at Amsterdam, the National Close at Amstern, and the "Open" at The Hague.

These three competitions are always attended by most of our members, and this year the venues are particularly central, and, by embracing these three,
