BURBERRYS' (PATENT) COAT, 'FREE-STROKE'

WITH PIVOT SLEEVE.

Pronounced perfect by Golfing,

It giveth the most abundant and satisfying freedom of arm in what-ment and liberty hitherto unsupplied.

Permits the ABM to be swung round like a mill nail without dragging.

The body of the Coat won't lift when both arms are held straight up!

Probably the most

Test your present coat
thus: buckle a tight

tie sleeves at wrists, then put both arms

can't do this without lifting the collar and body of coat YOU

Gusset Sleeve Sporting Coat

Gives perfect freedom to the arms and ample room everywhere.
NO DBAGGING ACROSS THE BACK OR WORKING UP IN THE NECK WHEN USING THE ARMS.

This photograph is intended to show the original Gusset Sleeve as introduced by us about fifteen years ago. The attitude of the wearer is not exactly a golfing one, but this is unimportant: it will, however, be obvious to the average srolfor or sportsman that the g'usat arrangement outlined in white under the sleeve, must, and does, give an absolute freedom of arm movement unobtainable with any other method of sleeve cutting.

Competitors have copied the Coat both in thiR and other details, but luivo not yet arrived at tho same result. Tho special kuuwluilgu whioli tumbled us to design it, and many other improvements in tho out mid make of sporting garments, bning only available at :t2, Brook Struut, W.

hold his own, and sometimes to do more, with an allowance of a third. Old Willie himself relates how on one occasion, when he went to North Berwick to play Davie Strath for £50, and was £15 short of the sum required, Mr. Blyth advanced the money, and after being victorious, it was refunded, and Willie returned to Musselburgh with the balance in his pocket. In the first East Lothian Clubs' tournament held at Gnullane in 1864, Mr. Blyth, along with the late Mr. J. R. Whitecross, one of his most intimate friends, represented the Tantallon Club, of which he was Scratch Medallist in 1862, 1863, and 1867. In the Honourable Company he was Gold Medallist at Musselburgh in 1871 and 1873, and he also won the Winter Medal in 1874 and 1879. He was a member of the Royal and Ancient Club and of the (North Berwick New Club, in the latter of which he won the Dalrymple Cup in 1896. Like all true golfers, Mr. Blyth loved matches more than medal play, and whether in singles or foursomes he was delightful either as an opponent or a partner. So strong¹ was his devotion to the game that when he could no longer play he watched the players as they holed out going and coming at Pointgany, or was wheeled round the course as an interested onlooker. On the occasion of the King's visit there was no more hearty welcome given to His Majesty than that by (the veteran golfer, and he was an interested onlooker when some time after the freedom of the Imrgh was presented to the Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimaru, who has also with him now joined the majority. A man of sterling integrity of character, and one who never let his left hand know what his right hand did in the way of benevolence to the poor and needy, he will be much missed by the community. The well-known golfers. Mr. A. D. Blyth and Mr. B. Hall Blyth, C.E., were, nephews of the deceased. Our portrait is from a photograph kindly lent by Mr. B. Hall Blyth.

RECENT DECISIONS OF THE RULES OF GOLF COMMITTEE.

"THE following are the more important decisions of the Rules of Golf Committee upon points submitted to them (under the 1899 code) since our last issue :—

Q.—In a Medal Competition a competitor drives from the wrong tee, i.e., outside the limits of the teeing ground, "but immediately detecting his error plays another ball from the correct tee, and returns his card, reporting the circumstances. Is there any penalty, and, if so, what is it ?

A.—If the player played from an entirely wrong teeing ground, he is entitled to re-tee on the proper teeing ground without penalty, but if it is meant that he had played from outside the limit of the proper teeing ground he is disqualified.

Q.—Under general rule, custom, or etiquette is a twosome (1) entitled to pass a. foursoins if there is a clear hole ahead, all players having caddies; (2) to pass a mixed foursome, all players having caddies (a) not to lime, (h) if there is a clear hole ahead? There is no local rule or by-law dealing with these points.

A.—A lone player has the same status as a single. There is no general rule or etiquette, but HOO Etiquette No. 8,

Q.—At the Otway Llandiwiji competition at Lanark a card was handed in signed and countersigned in order, but the addition of the outward and inward scores was put at a stroke less than it should have been. This card was the lowest, but in accordance with the RHO of Golf < loiiiiiiiill.cc's decision the player of it was disqualified. The score of this player's companion, i.e., the HOC of the man who made the wrong addition, was the second lowest net score. Should he get the prize or should it go to the third lowest net score? There was no suspicion of intended inaccuracy, the recorder of the second lowest net score being • the father of the recorder of the lowest net score. But one can easily fancy a case in which an easy-going¹ player might be in this way taken advantage of by an unscrupulous opponent.

A.—The player having the second lowest net score receives • the prize.

Q.—A. and B. are playing a Medal Round together. A. tees in his ball outside the limits of the teeing ground. (1) Is B. justified in calling A.'s attention to the fact? (2) If, after • having his attention called, A. re-tees his ball within the limits, is he disqualified for receiving advice under Rule 12?

A.—(1) Yes. (2) No.

Q.—A three-ball match with caddies is followed by a 'mixed' foursome, one of whom (a male) is a professional and only one caddy among the four. At a certain hole the latter requests permission to pass, and it is refused. Is this right?

A.—No, it is wrong; but the Etiquette of Golf cannot be enforced.

Q.—A. and B. are partners in a foursome. When A. was about to putt (on the green), B. brushed the green across the line of the putt with his hand, touching the ground in a manner which would have been quite lawful had A. done it himself. Does this cause A. and B. to lose the hole if claimed by their opponents?

A.—No.

Q.—Is it a stroke if while a player is putting on the putting green, or after having grounded his club, in the act of addressing his ball, the ball moves, whether blown by wind or otherwise?

A.—You.

Q.—In a Stroke Competition, and in the eighth hole, when both holed out, one of the competitors said he had taken 7. The marker, who was his opponent, knew at the time he had taken 8, but rectified the matter before the cards were handed next morning to the Secretary. The actual score was 8, and admitted both by scorer and marker. Can a card be altered before handing to the Secretary, or should this be done before leaving the putting green?

A.—It can be altered before being handed in.

Q.—In a Holo-and-Hole Oomposition, A., playing two more, was supposed to have got out of bounds, the local penalty in such case being the loss of the hole. B., his opponent, without making certain of this, played one off two, and also got out of bounds. DOOM B.'S action in playing and getting into the Same difficulty square matters P

A.—A., having lost the hole under local rule by playing out of bounds, nothing that he can do can prevent his opponent from winning the hole.

Q.—A player in a Medal Competition placed a finger of his left hand on his ball, which was on a putting green, and with his other hand removed from the hole a worm cast adhering to it. The ball was not moved or caused to move by his action. What, if any, is the proper penalty? Under what Rule or section does the matter fall P

A.—TWO strokes under Rule 9, but he is disqualified under Rule 84,

Q.—At the eighth hole in a Stroke Competition, a player's tee shot landed beyond the green in some bushes. The player erroneously concluding that the ball was out of bounds, without attempting to look for it, dropped another ball on the tee, and played out with the second ball. The first ball was then found, and the player drove off the ninth tee. He then was informed that he had done wrong, and returned, took the first ball, lost two strokes, and holed out in 11—which score he returned for the eighth hole on his card. He was disqualified by the Society, acting in the Council's name, for not holding out under Rule 11. DOOM Rule 11 apply, and, if not, (does any Rule apply to this case, and was the player wrongly disqualified P

A.—Disqualified for striking off to the ninth hole before discovering his mistake.

Q.—A competitor in a Stroke Competition, in which a fellow competitor acted as marker, after his score had been verified and his card signed by the marker, received it and placed it in the appointed receptacle, without countersigning it himself. No question arises as to the accuracy of the score, or as to the facts that it was duly checked and signed by the marker. Shortly afterwards, but some time before the conclusion of the competition, the competitor called the Secretary's attention to the omission of his signature. The facts were submitted to the Captain and some members of the Green Committee who happened to be present, and the competitor was disqualified! although his score was the best returned in the competition. Moreover it was held that he was not, entitled to take the customary sweepstake got up amongst the competitors, although, he was duly entered. It is submitted that both those decisions are wrong and ought to be reversed.

Rule 4, Special Rules for Stroke Competition, provides, inter alia.) that "On completion of the round the score of the competitor shall be signed by the marker, countersigned by the competitor, and" handed to the Secretary or his deputy, after which, unless it be found that a card returned shows a score below that actually played, (in which case the competitor shall be disqualified), no correction or alteration can be made."

It will be seen that the Rule states that when (the card has been signed, countersigned, and handed in, "no correction or alteration can be made." It may be held that those words would apply to the addition of a score, and that (his addition cannot therefore be made, but it is submitted that the exception inserted before the words "no correction, etc.," shows that the words were intended to apply to a correction or alteration in the score, and not in the card. This reading is upheld by the fact that no penalty is laid down in the Rule for any mistake or omission, except the serious one that the card returned shows a score below that actually played, in which case, and in that case only, the penalty is disqualification. Had it been intended that the penalty for an accidental omission of the competitor's, counter-signature should be disqualification, it may be assumed that this would have been explicitly stated as if, in all other cases. It is unnecessary to point out that the competitor's counter-signature is of little or no value compared with the signature of the marker, who is really irreplaceable for the correctness of the score, and the absence of it when the cards worn uxauinod would, ex. necessitate, disqualify the competitor for whom he marked. It might, nevertheless, be argued that, as the rule stands, even the marker's signature might be added subsequently, under proper safeguards, without entailing¹ any penalty upon the competitor. If those deductions are correct, the Rule limits the penalty of disqualification to the case of an understated score, and imposes no penalty, certainly not disqualification, on the omission, of the competitor's coiuitor-Hig'iaitiro. If this conclusion is disputed it is submitted that this point is one "not covered by the Rules of Golf," and must therefore be decided, in accordance with Rule 35, "by equity." In equity a decision in favour of the competitor would soeinto be inevitable. The same arguments might be used to determine the destruction of the swoopstake; but in regard to this it is churned that it is outside the Rules and must be awarded on the principle of "first past the post," to the competitor whose flcovo is the bent on the day.

A.—He is disqualified for both modal and swoopatakes.

Q.,—(I) Playing in snow, may a pnyor clear away any of the snow round his ball? If so, how much? (") If the ball is embedded can he clear away onoujfi ju HOO tlo linll F If MO, must it be from behind or from the top of the ball, and how much?

A.—A player is entitled to remove the HUOW within » club length of the ball, providing he does not move the ball.

Q.—In a foursome Stroke Competition the ball lay within 18 inches of the hole. One of the players played it in turn, and the ball almost lipped the hole. He thereupon holed out instead of his partner. What is the penalty?

A.—If the ball was TDpiwoil and holed out by the player whose lui'u it was to play, the penalty is two strokes, otherwise the penalty is dwnlilieatioii.

Q.—Casual blown snow through the flTiimand not in a line with it, may a player remove it, under Rule 17, to wipe away COMU Mad behind his ball before play? **¥

A.—No.

Q.—A. drives a ball into a water course. A. takes his stance and starts the backward movement of his club with a view to taking his stroke. In so doing he hits the bank at the back of the hazard in the upward stroke, and thereupon arrests his club. Before altering his position the ball is then carried down the stream. He follows it, and, taking' up a new position, plays the ball out. Did A. incur any penalty by hitting the bank of the hazard or by following the ball?

A.—No.

Q.—A. and B. play 0. and D., and receive two strokes on the round of eighteen holes. C. and D. win on the last green by one hole. It is discovered after the match that A. and B. should have received five strokes on the round—an error in calculation which is admitted. A record was taken of the match, and under the proper handicap A. and B. would have won by two up and one to play. Should the match be replayed? Can A. and B. claim the match, or can C. and D. claim it?

A.—If the match was played in a competition, and the wrong handicap fixed through an error on the part of the Club Committee, the match must be replayed, but if it was an ordinary foursome, C. and D. win.

Q.—A player's ball lay on the green in front of the hole. He laid his club on the lip of the hole, and then instead of holing out he hit his ball away about 15 yards, and then lifted it. This occurred in a Monthly Competition, and the opponent suggested he was afraid by this fiction he had disqualified himself. They agreed to play on, and the player dropped his ball on the green from the place he had lifted it, and in one pull holed out. The score was then made up by him to be his second on the green, third in the hole, fourth in hitting the ball 15 yards away, fifth in dropping again, and sixth in his putt. Does this counting conform to the rules of the game?

A.—The player holed out in his seventh putt, having lost two strokes for lifting and dropping the ball.

The following decisions have recently been issued under the 1902 code.—

Q.—A player in a Modal Competition returns a card on which the handicap is wrongly subtracted, the result being that the net score reads 85 instead of 87. Is the player disqualified under Rule 4 of Special BUIOH for Modal Play P

A.—The player is not disqualified. There is no necessity for a competitor to add up his score before handing in his card. That is the duty of the Secretary.

Q.—Club held a Medal Competition on March 14th over their course, on which new holes had not been made since February 28th. A member played over the course in the forenoon with a friend, and in the afternoon played over the same course in the competition. Was he disqualified under Rule 3 of Stroke Competitions P

A.—If new holes are not cut for all Stroke Competitions, the Committee of the Club ought to make some special rule to meet the case in point,

Q.—In a Modal Competition where there are patches of snow on the course, and also sand in one bunker which is entirely covered with several inches of snow, and there were patches of snow on some of the greens. What should be done in the above cases if a ball goes into snow P

A.—If players play when snow is on the ground they ought to make special rules to meet the circumstances.

Q.—Rule It, Htorkn ComptitiouH.—"No competitor shall play on any of the putting-greens, nor shall he intentionally play at any of the holes, nor aim at any of the putting-greens," (1) Is a player disqualified by driving a ball from a tee in the line of play from the tee, even if the hole is absolutely out of reach? (2) If a ball lies on the green in the direction of a hole which is out of reach, is the player disqualified? (3) Does the word "intentionally" govern both "at any of the holes" and "on any of the putting-greens" P

A.—(1), No; (2), No; (3), The word "intentionally" governs both the phrases.

Q.—Rule 11, Stroke Competitions.—A caddie stands at hole with flag-stick in hand as a guide for long putt. Is the penalty incurred if the stick is resting in the hole when the putt is made, although sufficiently under control to be removed before ball arrives?

A.—The penalty cannot be exacted in the case mentioned.

Q.—Is a player allowed to change his ball between holes, having lifted out of a hazard?

A.—Yes.

Q.—A's ball is lying three inches from the hole, with B.'s nine-inches behind it—a dead lie. B. has to play the like, and in doing so intentionally plays hard against A.'s ball, knocking it over the hole, while his own, following through, drops in. B. holes in the like. Is B. entitled to the hole, and is such a stroke allowable, and if not, what rule forbids it?

A.—The stroke is allowable.

Q.—Rule 4, Stroke Competitions.—Does this mean that a player may add his score up correctly or incorrectly, or not at all, and yet not be in any way disqualified or otherwise penalised, so long as the score for each hole is correct?

A.—So long as the score for each hole is correctly marked, the player is not disqualified or otherwise penalised, whether his card is correctly or incorrectly added up, or not added up at all.

THE "PENNINI TROPHIC" (CLARET CUP)
 d'A hliul [iHrinHMimi of the Prun-liMui'M.]

" FORWARD CARNOUSTIE."

REV. T. D. MILLER, M.A.

IT puzzled one greatly to know what it was all about. It surely could not be that the disbanding forces of the Barry Camp had, in an evil hour, rushed the town ! Yet there was martial music, and the glare of torches, and the sound of many voices and much confusion in the streets. We had been recommended to Carnoustie as a quiet, none-too-fashionable, watering-place, offering facilities for unlimited golf—quite an ideal retreat for an autumn holiday. Whence, then, the turmoil of this particular night ? Our speculation was soon at rest, and all unnecessary fears allayed, for inquiry elicited the information that golf was the beginning and the end of it. The local hero had returned from the contest bearing the spoils of his prowess, and bringing the Evening Telegraph Trophy home with him, and, for a brief hour or two, Carnoustie had broken loose from her traditional quietude and staid respectability, and in the darkness of the night acclaimed her "Conquering Hero" on his arrival home—and well she might.

There was golf in Carnoustie during the greater part of last century, and to Alan Robertson, it is said, belonged the credit of laying down among the sand dunes and rabbit warrens beside the Barry Burn the original nine-hole course.

The village owes more perhaps than its rulers are willing to confess to the game of golf, and though it owns a fine stretch of sands, and, as the communicative native modestly admits, the safest bathing beach in Scotland, no one can doubt that its golfing facilities have been the chief factor in the growth and prosperity of the town.

It was a red-letter day for Carnoustie on which, in the autumn of '67, some dozen or more golfing men met in conclave, in Dundee, intent upon getting "a site and a shelter" for the convenience of players upon the seaside links. That little company of kindred spirits was the nucleus of what is now the large and influential Dalhousie Club.

Circumstances led to a larger movement than seems to have been originally contemplated, and so, it may be, not without some misgivings, another Club was launched from the Tayside stocks. But the issue more than justified the venture. There was a remarkable response to the summons, and something like a hundred names were enrolled at the first business meeting of the Club.

The early annals of the Club, carefully recorded for over twenty years by Mr. Willock, the first Secretary, show that it enjoyed an ever-increasing popularity and prosperity. After the erection of a pavilion, on a very modest scale of course compared with the present handsome and well-appointed Clubhouse, the business of improving and extending the green to its full limits was taken on hand.

Thirty years ago, not without the benefit of the counsel and judgment of the sage Old Tom, the alterations were completed, and the enlarged green opened with the usual appropriate ceremony. It seems somewhat strange in those days of mimbless greens and their attendant greoiikooipois that Morris, at that time, knew of (only one man capable of undertaking the duty of superintendent, Bob Andrews, of Perth, whom he accordingly recommended, but the negotiations fell through, and "The Rook," as he was called, was left to uphold the credit, which he did worthily till the end of his days, of the famous North Inch.

Under the judicious direction of (the Dalhousie Club golf advanced by leaps and bounds on Carnoustie, and when the boom came, which extended all over the world, that Club found it necessary to lengthen its cords and strengthen its slakes, the increase of membership necessitated more commodious premises, and, in addition, the precautionary provision of the advance of the centivico foe, which stood originilily lit il, iHiimildy to (the sum of live guineas.

From the time of the institution of the "Dalhousie," the management of the golf, as in the case of the "Royal and Ancient," was left under its control by the other Clubs—the "Carnoustie and Taymouth" and "Caledonia"—those, however, agreeing to contribute annually towards the expense. But about a dozen years ago the condition of affairs was considerably altered by the purchase of the links from the Earl of Dalhousie,, a transaction carried through for tho common good by the Police Commissioners, the purchase-money being mainly raised by means of public subscriptions and the useful and ingenious bazaar. The "Dalhousio" were appointed by the new proprietors as before to the old and honourable office of Curators. A new and seemingly more equitable arrangement, however, at present attains, by which the Commissioners themselves, aided by a Committee comprised of representatives of tho local Clubs, undertake the control, and by the imposition of a small fee for visitors, a further source of revenue, not to be despised, has been provided.

A comparison of tho scores returned at the medal competitions, and preserved in the Club records, gives some idea of the improvement effected upon the course during the Dalhousia's tenure of office, for while, at the outset, anything under 100 was certain of an award, nowadays, while the par round is reckoned at 76, tho scratch player must keep in the vicinity of the four score to have any hope of success. For a time the record of the green was held by the over-lamented Freddie, who, in one of his record-breaking years, when the Royal Highlanders were under canvas at Barry, established himself in a very secure position with a brilliant 71i, the same figure which placed him in a similar exalted rank on St. Andrews. But some further alteration having been effected on Carnonstio, Mr. Tait'a return has now been rendered invalid.

Bit by bit the course has been altered and improved, until at length it has reached a high state of excellence, and with firm sward, trim lawns, dykes, ditches, and other devices to penalise the unwary, not forgetting tho ineanderinga of Barry Burn, sn mueli in evidence at the close of tile round, the most fastidious will find in Carnoustie all that he could desire. It is a thoroughly sporting course, affording scope for the exhibition of tho finest skill, and at the saini' time, for those morn modestly endowed, a first-class field for recreation and even for discipline of spirit, if they be able to apply and appropriate the good counsel bestowed upon Imogen—"some falls are means tho happier to arise."

It is worthy of notice that the Erst of tho numerous ball-making machines contrived to save the necessity of hand-hammering was the invention of a Carnoustie player, for to

Mr. J. G. Orchar, an ex-Captain of the Dalhousie, and an enthusiast both in the fields of art and golf, belongs the credit of having: thus created a revolution in the ball-making industry; and were it not that monuments do not lend themselves as suitable adornments to golf links, Carnoustie might, by such an erection, make good her claim to this further distinction, and at the same time, commemorate Mr. Orchard achievement, and honour one well worthy of such estimation.

Since Jack Simpson carried off the leading honours at Prestwick a score of years ago, Carnoustie has not shown to the front in either of the two principal events of the season. Some of the non-resident members, entering from other Clubs, have made an occasional bid for fame, but with such opportunities as Carnoustie now affords, we should have expected to find one or two of the local cracks among the entrants. It may be that too much modesty has held them back, but from one cause or other the prosperous breeze has not been blowing across the estuary of the Tay and it was all the more noteworthy, therefore, that the Evening Telegraph Trophy should be handed over by a youthful member to the custody of the Caledonia Club for the year.

The Trophy Competition is open to Scotland, and the contest excited keen rivalry. The rendezvous of the match on this occasion was St. Andrews, and the final tie between Messrs. Harris (Carnoustie) and Simpson (St. Andrews University), is said to have been one of the most keenly contested matches ever seen on these historic links. That Harris won the best of form was evinced by his putt in the outward journey in the 37th hole when he compiled a 37, in spite of the fact that he unexpectedly failed at the end hole, registering a 38. His run of five fours from the second hole out was an exceptional performance. And in the final tussle, with the additional strain of a stiff H H W, the play on the part of both the contestants continued to be of a high-class order.

The issue was in the lachrymose to the very last putt, for at the "Dyke" the sailer stood all square, mid the "Road" being halved in five, the match was still open when the players crossed the Swilow. But then came one of those remarkable unlooked-for incidents that so often occur in the game, a turn of the play which left the unexpected often happens and illuminated the OK « 1 « W » « im Hnt n mli » li is never lost till it is won.

THE IRISH LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP, 1902.

By Mrs. V. M. INDUS,

Hon. Secretary Irish Ladies' Golf Union.

THE Irish Ladies' Golf Union hold their ninth Championship Meeting at Newcastle, Co. Down, on May 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th, the Council of the Co. Down Golf Club having¹ kindly given the use of their fine links for the third time to the Union. The ground was in beautiful condition and made an ideal Championship course, the greens being particularly fine and true. The entry was good, and representative of the best ladies' golf in Ireland. Many of the contests were interesting, and the play, if furnishing nothing startling or phenomenal, was on the aggregate sound and profitable. Miss Rhmia Adair, owing to the luck of the draw, got into the third round without playing a stroke, which, naturally, gave a lack of interest to the opening stages of the tournament. In the second round Miss May Hralet played remarkably good golf against Miss F. Walker-Loigh, and the latter (a formidable opponent usually, doing the first nine holes in 41—a performance considering the velocity of the wind, which interfered greatly with the long game at certain parts of the course. Indeed, with the exception of the concluding day, when we find her going against good scoring, a strong and keen Irish wind blowing almost incessantly. The third round produced some interesting matches; that between Miss Mogaw and Miss McNine ending¹ in the victory of Miss Mogaw by five holes. Mrs. Meyler beating Miss Tyrrell by two and one, and Miss V. (i. Magill) beating Miss Scovell by two. The final round concluded a surprise for the onlookers, for Miss M. K. Sluarl beat Miss May Hezlet by two and one. This is no discredit, to the latter for her opponent is a fine player, lining very strongly against the wind, and good at the points of the game. Miss Houghton, however, did not pull with her usual accuracy otherwise she result might have been different. There was nothing of special note in the remaining rounds, Miss Rhona Adair winning easily in the final. Indeed, she had not to play a close match at any time during the tournament. She was on the top of her game all the time, and her judgment was scarcely ever at fault, so she well deserved the honour she won for the third time. On the opening day of the meeting Miss May Hezlet won the scratch score competition with the capital score of 85, Miss Rhona Adair being second with an 88. The prizes were kindly presented by the Co. Down Ladies' Golf Club. The meeting¹ was brought to a close on Saturday, May 10th, when the Countess of Ailesbury presented the Championship Cup and other prizes to the successful competitors. A word of thanks is due to the members of the Co. Down Golf Club for their hospitality during the week to all competitors and for freely placing the links and Club-house at their disposal. THE LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP, 1902.

AN entry list of 110 proved the popularity of the Ladies' Golf Union's choice of Deal as the venue for last year's Championship. Miss M. A. Graham was too torn to defend her title, and her most dangerous opponents were generally regarded as Miss Sibyl Whigham and the two leading Irish representatives, Miss Bona Adair and Miss Mary Ho-Jot, both previous winners. Play began on Tuesday, May 27th, and extended over the three succeeding days, on all of which the conditions were excellent. No surprises were sprung on the opening day, which was devoted to the first round. Nor were there any on Wednesday morning, albeit Miss Mary Hezlot, after being four down at the sixth hole, had to do all she knew to beat Miss Borthn Tlionipson on the home green. In the third round Miss Titforlon, one of the British Medallists at Ulster, beat MWH PUMCOO, the ISI Champion, on the Nixman jfiwii, and IVUHH L, who worsted Miss Novilfl, the Millioi'-np in the jioo, with iiii>xpw, < d oasc. ENGLAND v. SCOTLAND.

WHEN the history of golf comes to be written, the Royal Liverpool Golf Club ought assuredly to bulk largely in it. They seemingly possess in a high degree the initiative faculty which is so sadly lacking in the governing body at St. Andrews. It was on the Royal Liverpool's suggestion that the Amateur 'Championship was instituted, and last year, as is well known, they carried through the first of what it is hoped will be a long series of contests between England and Scotland. Although the teams of twelve were selected by a small Society of English and Scotch members of the promoting Club, they were in every way representative of the best golf in each country, and the result, a win for Scotland over thirty-six holes by seven holes, was considered a fair and reasonable indication of the playing ability of the golfing élite of each country.

The contest was decided at Hoylnkc on Saturday, April 2 (ilh. and attracted the innumerable "1" iiUfiil-ion, Mr. John Hall, jun., and Mr. R. Maxwell, who had not, proved wonderfully well matched. The latter held an advantage of two holes with four to go, but with extraordinary skill pluck Mr. Hall with him going in gviva earnest, and landed the gallant winner by a hole. As it turned out, this hole stood him in rare stead, for the second round was halved, albeit Mr. Maxwell again haltered his supporters by simulating three up at the third.... Mr. H. II, Hilton failed to do himself justice against his old opponent, Mr. J. E. Laidley, and lost both the first, his putting throughout being very inefficient. So also was that of Mr. H. (i. Laidley, who dropped no fewer than nine holes in Mr. J. (i. Laidley, inn. Mr. L. M. Balfour-Melville and Mr. J. Laidley won round about, but the latter's easy win in the second left him half a dozen holes to the good. Much was expected from England's youthful hopes, Messrs. J. A. T. Laidley, H. (i. Laidley, and the lion. (i. Scott, but the result was not triiniph for the St. Andrews men (Messrs. J. Robb, S. M. Kergusson, and Mr. McKen/ie).

against whom they were pitted. Mr. Robb's afternoon round was probably the best, of the day—77, or thereabouts. Mr. J. R. Gairdner beat Mr. B. Darwin by one hole after a real old-fashioned tussle; but Mr. G. F. Smith and Mr. S. H. Fry between them contributed no fewer than fourteen holes to England's "bag," the former's trouncing of that "mighty smiter," Mr. Edward Blaekwell, by nine holes, being the biggest surprise of the match. A red-letter day in the history of the "Royal Liverpool" was wound up in the Club-house, where both teams were entertained to dinner. Details :—

Mr. B. Maxwell, and between Mr. C. Hutchings and Mr. Hutchinsou. In the former a slack start compelled Mr. Ball to play an uphill game throughout. At the seventh hole he was three down, but had reduced his leeway to one at the turn. This was still the position at the thirteenth hole, but Mr. Maxwell ultimately won by two and one, and he avenged his defeat a few days before in the first International contest. The tussle between the other couple was even closer. It was ding dong¹ all the way, and honours were easy at the seventeenth hole. The home hole ought to have been halved, but Mr. Hutchinsou missed a short putt, and Mr. Hutchings inarched on to victory. A sensational round was terminated by Mr. S. H. Pry beating the youthful Mr. McKenzie in great style.

There was a considerable change in the conditions on the second day. Rain fell freely during the early morning and the putting greens benefitted accordingly. A strong nor-wester, however, made some of the holes difficult to play, and the temperature in the afternoon was too low to be pleasant for either spectators or players. The one match in the third round which gave promise of good things was that in which Messrs. J. Graham, Jun., and A. R. Aitken were brought together. It was in the fifth round that Messrs. Graham and Aitken met in 1901, the Liverpool representative gaining a victory by two holes. On this occasion, by the time the fourth hole had been played Mr. Graham was three up, and at the seventh was leading by five. Mr. Aitken improved for a time and won two holes back, but had to give way at the fifteenth green. Messrs. Lawson and (iam)ncT and Messrs. Nicholson and Steon had battles royal, the first named of each pair winning at the twentieth and nineteenth holes respectively; but nearly all the other matches in the round were of the runaway order. Messrs. Robb, Hutchings, Brams-lon, J. B. Pease, Maxwell, and Fergusson all played in fine form. Mr. N. F. Hunter was outplayed by Mr. Fergusson, who did the first nine holes in capital style, the approximate score being 37, with 3's for the fourth, seventh, and eighth.

The match of the day was that between Mr. Pease and Mr. Maxwell in the fourth round. In the outward half Mr. Pease played almost perfect golf. He was out-driving even Mr. Maxwell, his long "follow through" being greatly admired. It is true that in the fifth hole he drove out of bounds, a slip which cost him the hole; but Mr. Maxwell followed suit at the Par-Hole, at which point Mr. Pease became two up; and this was the state of the game at the ninth. Mr. Pease added to his lead with a perfectly played 3 at the tenth, being very nearly down in 2. Mr. Maxwell's chances at this point looked black indeed, but it proved the turning point of the match. Mr. Pease was at fault on the twelfth green, Mr. Maxwell whining with an excellent 3. At the Rushes also Mr. Maxwell was within about three yards of the hole with a grand clock shot, and the hole fell to him in 3. A very fine second shot to the fourteenth enabled him to square accounts. Mr. Maxwell, however, lost the fifteenth hole through pulling his second, but squared matters again with an admirably played 4 at the trying sixteenth. An excellent putt gave him a half in 4 at the next, and the match was square with one to go. After two good drives both played on to the home green with irons, but Mr. Pease overshot the hole and lay near the palings, while his opponent was within seven yards of the hole. Mr. Maxwell was short with his first putt, but his rival failed to get down in two, and the Scotsman, holing his second, won an exciting match by a putt. Two tight matches were also played by Messrs. Forgusson and Graham, and Messrs. Laidlay and Fry. Both ended contrary, perhaps, to popular expectation. Mr. Forgusson in a "dour" match player, as everyone knows, and it's fresh evidence of the fact worth wanted his defeat of Mr. Graham on his home green was ample testimony. It was equally to the credit of Mr. Fry that he should put Mr. Laidlay out of the running. Mr. Fry completed eight holes in the outward half in 3-4, but at the sixth hole he was out of bounds twice. Mr. Laidlay made a strong effort on the homeward journey to avert defeat, but the steadiness of the Mid-Surrey player overcame him at the seventeenth. The match in which Messrs. Hutchings* and Braniston were engaged promised a stout fight, but it opened in quite a sensational fashion. With the aid of some very good putting Mr. Hutchings took the first four holes off the reel, and the Oxonian was never able to get on even terms with him. The other matches went much as anticipated, except perhaps that in which another Royal Liverpool representative, Mr. P. P. Oowther, jun., just managed to beat Mr. T. L. Lawson, a promising young player, on the home green.

The third day proved to be an improvement on both its predecessors in this matter of weather, and this play was extremely interesting. Mr. Maxwell easily disposed of Mr. Fergusson. At the sixth hole he was 4 up, and the match ended at the thirteenth, Mr. Hutchings met a plucky young player in Mr. V. A. Pollock, but, in spite of the fact that the latter had some exceptional pieces of luck, he beat him in the end by 4 and 3. At the tenth, where Mr. Hutchings had played a very pretty third, Mr. Pollock snatched a win by holing out in 3 from an iron shot. At the next also he holed from off the green, and gained a half in 3, although Mr. Hutchings was within a foot of the hole with his approach. Mr. Fry had a hard match with the holder (Mr. Hilton). The latter was not soon at his host, and Mr. Fry, playing with great care and steadiness, was two up at the turn and four up at the fourteenth. Mr. Hilton made a desperate effort, and won the fifteenth in a very good 4, but Mr. Fry got a half of the next hole, and therewith the match.

The penultimate round provided two exciting matches. Messrs. Robb and Hutmugs started first, and the former began well by winning two holes straight off, the first by the aid of a stillie, but lost the third by getting into a bunker. The next three were halved, and the Englishman squared matters at the seventh. He, however, stymied himself at the eighth and Mr. Robb) turned one up. At this Short Alps he had hard luck, he was within five yards of the hole from the tee, while his opponent was forty yards away. Mr. Robb, however, holed his approach and won in 2. The luck turned at the next, where an otherwise excellent approach by Mr. Robb rolled into the pond at the far edge of the green. Mr. Hutchings squared the match in the fourteenth. Mr. Robb was bunkered with his second and failed to get out at the first attempt, but put his fourth down. Mr. Hutchings, however, prevented the apparently almost certain half by holing a long pull. At the sixteenth, where Mr. Robb drove out of bounds, Mr. Hutchings took the lead for the first time. Mr. Robb threw away any chance he now had by pulling his tee shot to the seventeenth into the bunker, and Mr. Hutchings won the hole and the match.

This "gallery," which had been watching Messrs. Robb and Hutchings with intense interest, now went to swell the crowd following Messrs. Maxwell and Fry. This was an even closer struggle than the other. Mr. Maxwell, by ineffective work on the putting greens had been giving the Mid-Surrey representative his chance, and the hitter was not slow to take it. He won the second in an excellent 3, but the rushes at the sixth cost him that hole, and the match was square. He won the eighth with a good putt in 4, but Mr. Maxwell reversed the process at the ninth and the match turned homewards all square. With a 4 at the tenth the Scotsman took the lead, but lost it at the twelfth by weakness on the green. Mr. Fry narrowly missed a 2 at the rushes, and, winning in 3, was again one up. Mr. Maxwell had the match all square with two to play, but threw away the seventeenth by missing a very easy putt after his opponent had got down a much longer one. On the eighteenth green he had a five yards putt to keep the match going, but he failed to get it down, and Mr. Fry won by a hole.

The weather conditions for the final on Friday were favourable. Mr. Fry won the first hole with a long putt, but Mr. Hutchings squared matters at the third. Two halves followed, and then Mr. Hutchings drew ahead, mainly by steady putting and brilliant approaching, and turned three up. The first three holes in were halved, but continuing to play a strong game, Mr. Hutchings added hole after hole to his lead until he was eight up at the end of the round. His inward HOOO WHS 'Hi, giving him the line return of 7) for the eighteen holes. The last hole he won in 3 with a lung putt.

The strong lead obtained by Mr. Hutchings in his first round left Mr. Fry little chance to save the match, he, however, made a plucky effort, and, to the surprise of everyone, carried the game to the last hole. He won the first hole, but lost the second, and was still eight down. He won the next three holes out, however, and thus reduced Mr. Hutchings's lead to one at the turn, being out in 2-12. The tenth and twelfth were halved, but Mr. Fry won the eleventh, thirteenth, and fifteenth, and was now only two down. The sixteenth was halved, but Mr. Fry won the seventeenth by excellent play. All, therefore, depended on the last hole. It was halved, and Mr. Hutchings won a sensational match. Mr. Fry was heartily congratulated on his plucky uphill fight, he played a capital game in the latter part of the match, while Mr. Hutchings fell •oil' somewhat from his brilliant morning game. Needless to say, Mi¹. Hutehiiga' victory was uxtroinely popular, and lie received an ovation at tho presentation of the Championship Cup and Medals. Both ho and Mr. Fry played with "Haskull" halls throughout, and tho 1902 Championship will probably be recalled in the years to come as the "Hutchings-Hoylako-Hankell Championship." Details:—

advantage in these hand-to-hand encounters, and in Club or inter-team games he has quite a unique record, I believe it is true that he has never lost a match when playing for the Royal Liverpool Club, and it will be fresh in the memory of many how he trounced Mr. Leslie Balfour-Melville in the International match last year. In the Amateur Championship he had not been particularly successful until his great win last May, but on the previous occasion the Championship was played at Hoylake he had the hardest of luck in the fourth round in not defeating the late Lieut. Tait on the eighteenth green. But any of those little failings or examples of poor fortune may be considered wiped out by his great performance at Hoylake. His way to the final was not an easy one, as amongst others he had to account for Messrs. Hutcheson, Bramston, and Robb ; but perhaps the most remarkable feature of his play was the fact that he exhibited the finest play in the whole of the tournament in the first round of the final, and that under weather of a most disadvantageous character.

It would be difficult to say wherein lies the strength of Mr. Hutcheson's game, as whilst there is no department in which he is markedly stronger than in others, it is moreover not possible to place your finger on a weak spot in his armour ; it is the general average excellence which pulls him through. As an opponent he is kindly, courteous, and a thorough sportsman, whilst his play in the final is so good that he cannot be excelled.

THE GOLFING CHAMPIONSHIP, 1902.

FOR the second time since its institution the Golfing Championship was decided at Hoylake on June 4th and 5th. Although there was a record entry list of 112, the destination of the Championship was generally regarded as lying between the holder (J. Braid) and the redoubtable Harry Vardon. But a genuine surprise was sprung by A. Herd, who was thought to have lost his chances of Championship honours slip at St. Andrews in 1895, and at Muirfield in the following year. Whether his victory is attributable to his electing to play with a "Haskell" ball at the eleventh hour, after damning it with faint praise a few days before, it is impossible to say. Suffice it that his somewhat belated win was extremely popular, and thoroughly earned by his brilliant third round on the second day. Beginning as he did by slicing his first two shots out of bounds, Harry Vardon's opening round of 72 was simply marvellous, and as he supplemented it with a 77, he led at the close of the first moiety by four strokes from Herd and Ray, and five from Braid, and was thus early regarded as the winner. On the second day, however, his third round totted up to 80, as against Herd's splendid 73, his even hotter performance than Vardon's 72 round, inasmuch as the wind had freshened. Herd thus began the crucial round with three strokes in hand from H. Vardon, who in turn led Braid, J. H. Taylor, and T. Vardon by five. At the turn Herd still retained his advantage, but strokes were thrown away here and there on the inward half, and H. Vardon was eventually left, with two fours to tick. He got the one all right, but threw his chance away by missing a shortish putt on the home green. Herd was thereupon congratulated on all hands, for it was thought impossible that anyone could approach his aggregate of 307. Braid, however, made a tremendous effort coming home, and, finishing¹ with five successive fours, actually tied with Vardon as joint runner-up. Mr. R. Maxwell, playing his last round with a "Haskoll," also did admiwiblo work. 11_H round, liko Braid's, was 74, and he fnlshotl Courtli only t_{wu} strokes bohint the Champion, and four in front of T. Vnrdon. At the close the Championship Modal and prizes worn presented by Mr. A. G. Eankino, Captain of the Rnyal Liverpool Moll' Olnb, wliose carrying through of the competition left nothing to l_q desired,

Subjoined ave the detailed cards of the fstvst throo, the order of the prize list, and full scores;—

ALEXANDER HERD).

GOLFING CHAMPION, 1902.

HERD'S career was so fully chronicled in Vol. IX. of the GOI/FINO ANNUARY that only a few details are now required. Born in 1808 at St. Andrews, Herd served his apprenticeship as a plasterer, and, while still an amateur, took a leading place in the competition* of the St. Andrews Golf Club. In 1890 he determined to embrace golf as a profession, and his first situation was at Portrush. Loughborough and Blundellsands were next visited ere he settled down as professional to the Huddersfield Golf Club, where he has been for the last twelve years. His annus mirabilis was 1895, when he won nearly every professional tournament of any importance, and displayed marvellously consistent form. Yet withal he could only finish second to J. H. Taylor in the Old Course Open at St. Andrews. Prior to that year he had been eighth in INNS, unplaced in 1889, fourth in 1891, second in 1892, third in 1893, and eighth in 1894. Since 1895 he has finished fifth, fifth, seventeenth, sixteenth, tenth, and again fifth ere he has won the seal on his fame by at last gaining the Championship. Since last Sunmorn he has held his own well in tournaments and exhibition matches, and will take all the beating that can be given him at Trostwick, where he looked all over a winner in 1893 until the last few holes.

During the winter, and even in the little under 12 stone, Herd plays with much vigour, drives a long-carrying ball, is equally powerful through the green, and putts well.

THE IRTSH AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP, 1902.

AMONG the forty-eight players who entered the lists at Dollymonnt against Mr. W. H. Boyd in last season's Irisli Native Championship wore throe previous Claiupiuns in Messrs. W. H. Webb (1895 and 1898), H. E. Reade (1897 and 1899), and B. G. I?. Henry (1900), who was unfortunately unable to defend his title in 1901. Among this quartette the issue was expected to lie; but the imexpected happened, and Mr. 3?. B. ISTewett, one of the best all-round athletes that Rossall has yet produced, won a meritorious victory.

On the opening day (Wednesday, May 21st) Mr. Webb, albeit lie turned three up, was beaten by two holes by a half limit handicap man in Mr. H. W. Jackson. The holder also ran a narrow squeak from being ousted thus curly, as an extra hole had to be played ere he shook off Mr. B. P. Meredith. On the following day Mr. H. B. Reade fell in the second round before a greatly improved player in the Hon. B. Gibson, who won on the seventeenth green. This, however, was the only upset of form during the day. On Friday tho fourth round saw two exciting- tussles. It was only on the last green that Mr. W. C. Pickemun, the Portmarnocjk Hon. Secretary, succumbed to the ultimate winner (Mr. Newett); but this match puled before that bi'tween the holder and Mr. Henry. The latter WJLS one up at the sixteenth hole, hut Mr. Boyd squared at the next, and the round was halved. An extra hole settled matters in Mr. Henry's favour, however, as Mr. Boyd missed a shortish putt. In the " semi-finals " Mr. R. Shaw beat Mr. P. M. Watson by a hole after honours had been easy at tile seventeenth. Against JYlr. Newett ilr. Henry turned one up, but the former came away with si strong game after drawing level at the tenth, and won easily by four up and throe to play. In the final tie over two rounds on Saturday the players proved wonderfully well matched. The morning round ended with Mr. Newett a holy to the jfood. In tlie afternoon, however. Mr. Shaw Hfnijrfittiwiij drew love].

MR. F. B. NEWETT.

IRISH AMATEUR CHAMPION, 1902.

THOSE who advocate that golf is an athletic game could wish for no better sample of an athletic golfer than Mr. F. B. Newett, inasmuch as he stands 5ft. 11in. and weighs 18st, 7lb. Born in 1875, Mr. Newett was educated at Rossall, where he gained much huros in every branch of sport. For four successive years he won the 100 yards and quarter mile races at the school sports, and the half mile for two years. But his crowning triumph on the path was his winning of the Quarter Mile Challenge Cup, open to all Public Schools, at Stamford Bridge, London, in 1894. In the same year he won the Rossall Rackets Championship, and captained the football and cricket teams. On leaving school he joined the North of Ireland Cricket Club, for whom he did rare service. In 1907 he won the cup presented by Lord Masefield for the largest balling aggregate, and by a second successive year he secured this trophy outright.

Taking seriously to golf in 1901, Mr. Newett scored his first win at Newcastle, Co. Down, in 1901, he and his partner Mr. Hurst winning the Challenge Niblicks 'em' foursome piny, and not long afterwards he finished first in the nine hole tournament for the Annesley Cup. Later on, at Carniulii, Belfast, he won the Dufferin and Avon Medal and Scratch Chip; and at Mulone, of which (Hub he is Captain, he has been even more fortunate. In virtue of three wins he has carried off in perpetuity the Vice-President's Cup, and the late Captain's Prize, the Coromiti Cup, and other prizes have also fallen to him. These performances eloquently testify that the Championship could not be in worthier hands, he is well equipped at every point of the game, and it will take a real good man to wrest his title from him.

MR. F. B. NEWLETT,
IRISH AMATEUR CHAMPION, 1902.

IRISH OPEN AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP, 1902.

THE eleventh annual Irish Open Championship, held at Portrush, on September, 2nd and the four succeeding days, attracted a record entry of 96, including the holder (Mr. H. H. Hilton), previous runners-Tip in Messrs. J. H. Andrew, L. S. Anderson, J. M. Williamson, and S. H. Fry, Mr. P. B. Newett, the Irish native Champion, ex-Champions in Messrs. H. E. Reade, W. H. Webb, and W. H. Boyd, and those promising players, Messrs. J. A. T. Bramstoei and G. Wilkie. Among these the issue was generally expected to lie, with Mr. Hilton and Mr. Fry probably most fancied. Anticipations were fulfilled, but it was only after magnificent tussles in the fifth and sixth rounds with Messrs. H. E. Reade and J. A. T. Bramstoei that Mr. Hilton scored his third successive! win, and his fourth in all. Mr. Reade was actually two up and three to go, but missing a very easy pitch to the sixteenth, and putting' sloakly at the two succeeding holes, he allowed Mr. Hilton to win the hardest of uphill matches. So also was it with Mr. Bramstoei, and the Champion fit the fifteenth hole. The sixteenth was halved, but Mr. Hilton, pocketing tin; nest two in 11, won his way into the final on the nineteenth green. In the final tie, the first moiety of the 36 holes was decided on the Friday evening, when Mr. Hilton could only claim nil advantage of one hole from Mr. W. H. Hamilton, an Edinburgh golfer of great steadiness, who had, among¹ others, ousted Mr. W. H. Boyd. On the Saturday morning, however, Mr. Hilton soon put the issue out (if doubt, and victory was his by five and three. Details:—

A BORDER GOLF COURSE.

By Mr. A. D. EOBSON, Gtalsliiola.

SITUATED in one of the many beautiful and picturesque spots of the Borderland is one of the best of the Border courses. It may in fact claim to be the best of these inland greens, and it is certainly the longest of them. Such is the nine-hole course of the Torwoodlee Golf Club, Galashiels, lying within the policies of Torwoodlee Mansion House.

The first Club formed in Galashiels was started in 1885, and was named the Galashiels Golf Club. The moving spirit, and one of the first to take up the game in the town, was Mr. William Dmilo, who was for several years Captain, Secretary, and Treasurer of the Club. He is still a keen player and an enthusiastic member of the new Club. The (Murse of the original Club was over Ladhope fields, close to the town, but being "let as grass parks, they were quite unplayable in Summer, which hampered the success and prosperity of the Club. The Club was much indebted to the late Mr. John S. Brunton, of Ladhope, who, during its entire existence, granted the fields rent free; and not only so, but during the latter years of the Club he gave the use of a house as a Clubroom, and an entrance by one of his private gates, allowing players to take caddies with them and to pass close to Ladhope House on the way to the course. All this was also granted rent free. Mr. Brunton was President from the start of the Club until it was dissolved in 1897. It was in that year thought that two Clubs were detrimental to the best interests of the game in the town, and the old Club was wound up, and all its goods and chattels were handed over to the Torwoodlee Club.

Torwoodlee Golf Club was started in 1895 and is an offshoot from the Galashiels Golf Club. It met with every encouragement from the late Captain Janus T. Pringle, of Torwoodlee, who did not charge any rent for the first two years, and in addition gave the use of a cottage on the course and wood for the erection of a footbridge across the Gala. A lease was afterwards secured on very favourable terms.

The course, consisting of about thirty-seven acres of old pasture land lying¹ alongside the Water of Gala, and sheltered snugly by hills all round, is nearly two miles from GalasMels Railway Station by the main road to Edinburgh. The access, adjoining which stands a house where the cyclist may stable his steed, and where one member rests his motor-car, is by a foot-path leading from the public road and across Gala Water by a girder footbridge. There is an excellent Clubhouse, erected five years ago at a cost of £450, which includes accommodation for lady members. It occupies an exceedingly pretty site overlooking the course.

The ground, although it had been in pasture for generations, was at first very rough and covered with knobby clumps of grass.. All these have now disappeared, and the turf is of excellent quality. The putting-greens are large and very good, and it was found necessary to make up only one of them. Worm casts have been troublesome, but they are of the past, the treatment the greens have undergone within the last year or two, and which should be continued, having eradicated them. The sub-soil is gravelly, and the course dries very quickly after rain.

The course was laid out by Willie Park, jun., who made the most of the¹ ground at his disposal, but it has since been altered and extended somewhat,

The following are the lengths of the holes :

1st	228 yards	6th	223 yards
2nd	214 "	7th	220 "
3rd	218 "	8th	344 "
4th	310 "	9th	419 "
5th	301 "

In all 2,527 yards, making for the round of eighteen holes 5054 yards, not a short round as inland courses go. There are a fair variety of hazards at almost every hole, some natural and some artificial.

Playing a bold g&mf, bowflvori limut of them need bo fonri'd, and the only one whwh to timid playor may dread in the high bank facing the fifth tee. A good drive oarriM tiba bank about 120 yavdH from the too, while the indifferent winit lindH its way to tho font. Out «f tlio (lidiculty the player vary ofta mslkas matters worsor by attempting a brilliant recovery, not an uncommon fault oven with BXp&lanOod players.

Thero are no i>Hnt holes, and tho pxittlng^graaaj btJO of largo and good, there in nothing trieky about tho course. Awy playnr, playing a doimnt giinui, oan mako a faiv BOOIG and tho hnm> playor in a match has not thu Hiuni) ftdvantago over liin oppoiumt which ho may havo on other groens. Liko moat iulinid gfiSSUfi, it is at its bost during tho Spring and narly Sumnior months, altliongli a good game can be had all the ynar round, tho grass being out regularly in Summer with a largo SIUIIIICH' mowor. If it has a fault, it may bs sold thin oonslBta in being too warm in Summor owing to its iitaatioti; but on tho other hand HUH vory fault is converted into a virtue wlmn tho wind blows sharp and cold from tho north. Then, uo mutter how oold or strong the wind may blow, it is hardly felt, HO well sheltered \H tho coarse by the friendly liil,ln around,

Thorn is a resident ffreonkeeper and olnlimnko¹—A, Oroniblo—an old Musselburgh boy and no moan playor.

Licensed caddioa um allowed on tho course.

When Braid and Vardon visited tho Bordow in Si>plo]iibor, 1901, they played over Torwootlloo ami Hawick rourmw, Tim lowest soore at Torwootlloe was 71, while tho IOWPHI III Hawlok, which is an excellent cmirHn l>nl crowded willi blind IIOIOH, was 7^; and yot tho formor is at leant 7011 yards longer limn (ho latter,

Should the votaries of the game lire of tholr Puvourilo patftimo, or should the weather uot ho propitious, thoy may, with coiiHont of the Lord of the Manor, which is not grud/yingly given, iudulgn in the gentle art. I am plsued to inform you that the Horn lawn Mower rtwntly supplied to the Dalhousie Golf Club, and used on Camoustle Golf COUIM, is giving very great satiefaction. The Springs are a great impnuimnt in this old style, not only in enabling the niaobino to got at the grass on undulating ground, but in the relief to the man guiding it. I uood hardly add that we are now getting our ttvBd Mory much better cut thanwft did with a muoliline without the Springs.
