BURBERRYS' (PATENT) COAT, 'FREE-STROKE' WITH PIVOT SLEEVE.

Probably the most freedom-affording outfit ever invented.

No other sleeve is fit to golf in or will ever be used again after this.

Test your present coat thus: buckle a belt tightly round waist, tie sleeves at wrists, then put both arms straight up. If you can't do this without lifting the collar and body of coat YOU WANT A PIVOT SLEEVE in which you can.

"I found, when swinging, a freedom under the arm which I have never before experienced in any other coat."

Niblick, Sporting and Dramatic News.

Pronounced perfect by Golfing, Angling, and Shooting Experts.

It gives the most abundant and satisfying freedom of arm in whatever position, and a feeling of detachment and liberty hitherto unapproached.

Permits the ARM to be swung round like a mill sail without dragging.

The body of the Coat won't lift when both arms are held straight up

"The trial rendered it simply ridiculous to think of shooting, fishing, or playing golf in any other garment."

Badminton Mag.

"It must give a man a great advantage to play in such a coat as this."—H. C. H.,

PREFACE.

I HAVE again to note a considerable increase in the number of Golf Clubs and Courses. Last year details were given of 2727; now 2859 are included in the Directory.

I had hoped to publish earlier than heretofore, but such a number of returns were late in coming to hand that this has been rendered impossible.

To Contributors and Club Secretaries I tender my sincere thanks for valuable assistance.

GOLFING ANNUAL.

RECENT DECISIONS OF THE RULES OF GOLF
COMMITTEE.

THE following are the more important decisions of the Rules of Golf Committee upon points submitted to them since our last issue :—

Q.—In match play, a player plays a ball by mistake other than his own or his opponent's; what penalty, if any?

A.—Vide second paragraph of Rule 29.

Q.—A player in match play plays a practice stroke with a ball not in play; what penalty, if any?

A.—If the practice stroke has special reference to the stroke which is about to be played, it is so obviously against the spirit of the game that the Committee did not consider it necessary to legislate on the subject.

Q.—What penalty, if any, in a four-ball match, A. and B. playing their best ball against C. and D.; A. plays B.'s ball, the error being discovered before another stroke is made?

A.—A. can take no further part in the hole. B. places a ball on the spot from which A. had played the ball and remains in play.

Q.—If a ball is lying immediately under a wire or other fence bounding the links, the ball being partly within bounds and partly out of bounds, is it correct to treat such ball as "in" or "out of bounds"?

A.—The Committee have already ruled that if the greater part of the ball is within bounds the ball has to be played where it lies.

Q.—Does No. 3 Special Rules for Stroke Competitions prohibit a competitor from playing on a relief or ladies' course before playing his round—the ladies' course being interspersed with the gentlemen's course, and in one or two cases practically continuations of the gentlemen's green?

A.—Rule No. 3 is quite clear on the subject.

Q.—In a stroke competition a competitor whose card showed the lowest score was declared the winner. After the players had left the Clubhouse and course, the runner-up, whose score was six strokes more, verbally objected to the winner's score, on the ground that it was below that actually played, and on inquiry it was admitted by the winner that a penalty stroke for a lost ball had unwittingly and in ignorance of the rule not been entered on the card. Is the objection in time, and, if so, how long after a match will Rule 4 Stroke Competitions disqualifying a competitor hold good?

A.—The competitor was disqualified under No. 4 Special Rules for Stroke Competitions.

Q.—Playing in a foursome A. is left by his partner's approach shot a 6-inch putt for the hole, but A.'s ball pitched in a small piece of wet mud left on the edge of the green (presumably from the foot of a player in front). A small piece of this mud clung to the ball and was on the side of the ball A. had to strike. A. played the stroke, and the ball and the mud stuck to his putter, and the head of the putter and the ball on it were exactly above the hole. His partner then with his putter tapped the ball off A.'s putter and it fell into the hole. Did A. or his partner lose or halve the hole? and would A. have been within his right in shaking the ball off into the hole? or what should they have done?

A.—The Committee have no experience of such tenacious mud, and such a contingency should be provided for by the local rules.

Q.—A Club's local rule for ball on putting-green other than the one played for provides that the ball shall be lifted and dropped, but exception has been taken to this as being contrary to the almost invariable practice on other courses, and as being unfair in giving a worse lie to the ball. The opinion of the Committee is craved.

A.—The Committee suggest that the ball should be placed and not dropped.

Q.—A competitor in a 36-hole stroke competition hands in his return to the Secretary for the first 18 holes as 79. Fifteen minutes afterwards he informs the Secretary that at one hole he lost his ball, and dropped another as near as possible to the spot from which he had played the first shot. Neither he nor his marker was certain of the penalty, so did not add the penalty stroke (Rule 6), so decided to put down the actual score played, and to ask about the rule on their return to the Clubhouse. They both forgot to do so on handing in the card to the Secretary on the eighteenth green, and it was not until afterwards (about fifteen minutes) that the competitor informed the Secretary of the error. On the stroke being added the score was 80. The Secretary informed the competitor he could play the second round subject to a further decision; he did so, and tied for first place. Is he disqualified under Rule 4, Stroke Competitions, or not?

A.—The player was disqualified.

Q.—Can a player who finds his ball lying upon sand on the course sprinkled or placed by the greenkeeper upon a "sclaff" mark, caused by turf being removed in the act of play, lift his ball and drop without penalty, or must he play the ball where he finds it?

A.—The ball must be played where it lies.

Q.—In a four-ball foursome (a) has the side to whom belongs the ball furthest from the hole the choice as to which of their balls shall be played first when on the green? (b) When not on the green?

A.—(a) Yes; (b) Yes.

Q.—In a foursome (stroke play) A. putted at the hole, and his ball stops on the lip, and is lifted by B. without holing out. Opponent, before leaving the green, points out this is disqualification, when player returns, replaces his ball, and holes out. Can Rule 10 include lifting a ball under such circumstances, and does taking opponent's opinion and acting upon it affect the position? In other words, is the penalty disqualification or two strokes?

A.—The penalty is two strokes. There is no disqualification for taking the opinion of the opponent.

Q.—In a stroke competition a player, before starting and whilst waiting for his partner to get ready, put down several balls on the green nearest the Clubhouse, and putted at the hole. Objection was taken that he was disqualified under Rule 3 governing Stroke Competitions. The player thereupon objected to the competition altogether, on the ground that new holes had not been made. These facts being admitted, (1) Is the player disqualified? (2) Should his objection that the new holes had not been made be upheld? (3) In the absence of any special rules of the Club, have the Committee any discretion in the matter?

A.—As new holes were not made the competitor was not disqualified, and his objection should be upheld. As the competition was conducted under the Rules of Golf, and no special local rules existed on the subject, the Committee of the Club had no discretion in the matter.

Q.—Beyond the fifth hole at Musselburgh, and within three yards or thereby of the hole, is a bunker shored up with sleepers. Between these sleepers and the putting green are several small holes into which a ball occasionally rolls, and becomes in consequence unplayable. May a ball so placed be lifted and dropped in terms of Rule 10, or must an endeavour be made to play it where it lies?

A.—The ball must be played where it lies unless in a stroke competition, when it can be lifted in accordance with No. 10 of Rules for Medal Play.

Q.—(a) In a stroke competition, if the ball nearest the hole assists in giving the player the line, must it be lifted (or holed out) though the player make no request to that effect? (b) The 1899-1900 Rules state the ball nearest the hole must be holed out or lifted if it might interfere with or assist the player in any way. The revised Rules (Rule 11), dated September, 1902, do not state this.

A.—No. The player takes the risk of striking the ball, and of losing a stroke thereby.

Q.—In a stroke competition A. commenced at the fourth hole of a nine-hole course, and after holing out at the ninth hole, he, to save further congestion, played the first three holes again before playing the fourth to the ninth holes. The course is laid out with an inner three holes (one to three) and an outer six holes (four to nine), Nos. 1 to 4 being practically equally convenient for starting. Does the fact of A. playing the holes in the order stated, and not in consecutive order from No. 4, disqualify him in the event of his returning the lowest score?

A.—Unless there is a local rule to the contrary, the holes must be played consecutively.

Q.—A. and B. played C. and D. in a foursome. A. and B. are on the green in 2; C. and D. are about the same distance from the hole, ten feet or so, in 6. B., who is under the impression that his ball is furthest away, plays his ball to the lip of the hole. C. claims the hole because he says his partner D. should have played. A. thought, on being referred to, that perhaps the A. and B. ball was a few inches nearer, and asked C. if the rule was the loss of the hole. This C. affirmed was correct, and on this understanding the hole was given up. A. and B. had at least 3 for the hole and 4 to halve, and only an inch and a half putt to play when they yielded up the hole on the bluff of C. Before the conclusion of the match C. is convinced, by being shown a copy of the rules, that he claimed the hole erroneously, and gives up his claim on that ground, but then turns round and claims the hole because A. did not hole out. Can a man claim a hole by bluff, and, after being found out and proved wrong, can he then claim it on account of another reason altogether?

A.—A. and B. win the hole.

Q.—Secretary and member of Committee were playing in front of A. and B., and noticed when leaving the second green during a sharp shower of rain, that A., on his way to the second green, was sheltering behind a hut. B. was seen by the Secretary and his partner in a few moments to join A., and they stood together by the hut. They were still there when the Secretary and his partner drove off from the third tee. The Secretary informed them shortly afterwards that they were disqualified. A. stated that he went by the hut until B. had found his ball. When B. found his ball he went to A. to wipe his face, A. having a cloth. A. and B. states they stayed there no longer than was necessary to wipe B.'s face, but admit they were away from their balls and against the hut. The Committee of the Club held that the players were, on their own admission, disqualified, they having discontinued play. Was the decision of the Committee right?

A.—Yes.

Q.—A. and B. were playing a team match. At the fourteenth hole B. grounded in a bunker—this is not disputed—B.'s caddie having said it was not a hazard. A. immediately said, "You should not have grounded there, it is a bunker." Neither knew the penalty, nor if B.'s caddie's mistake absolved B. from penalty. They played on as if the breach of rules had not occurred, B. winning the fourteenth hole by one stroke. A. observed, "That is your hole," and at the seventeenth hole, "That is your match. Shall we play the bye?" Was A.'s remark at the fourteenth hole—"You should not have grounded there, it is a bunker"—sufficient protest, and should the fourteenth hole be A.'s or B.'s?

A.—A.'s remark was not a sufficient protest, and the hole was B.'s.

Q.—In a match the ball lies in a dry watercourse, the banks of which are composed of soil and stones. The watercourse is a recognised hazard. In swinging back the player strikes a loose stone on the side of the bank, stops his swing, and re-addresses the ball. Has the player incurred any penalty? If so, what, and under which rule?

A.—The Committee, before answering the question, wish to know whether the stone was moved, and its exact position in the bunker.

Q.—When a ball is lying in a hazard, does the player incur any penalty under Rule 12, if either he or his caddie touch or place the clubs in a part of the same hazard, previous to striking at the ball, providing always that nothing has been done, nor what might be construed into any intention of doing so, to improve the lie of the ball and subsequent play?

A.—No.

GEORGE H. GIBSON-CARMICHAEL.

A TRIBUTE.

FOR ever from the dear accustomed scene,
Grey gaunt gables of an ancient fane;
The relics of a pomp and rite that tell
Our systems wax and wane——.

St. Andrews, whose hoar tower stands sentinel
O'er the new life that throbs within her wall,
Between the tide of humankind for toil or play
And ocean's rise and fall.

Thee! they titled "Giant," in their kindly sport,
Huge, ponderous, striding the firm sward,
Yet light of heart, winning men's love and trust,
Of goodness, the rich reward.

Loving the hallowed stones, the ruined home of kings,
Yet most the billowed links, the prospect fair;
Adieu! Thine was the giant's heart of trusty friend,
Of generous impulse, to thine own impair.

MISS RHONA K. ADAIR.
CHAMPION LADY GOLFER, 1903.

THE LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP, 1903.

THE Eleventh Annual Championship was held at Portrush on May 5th and the three succeeding days, under the auspices of the Ladies' Golf Union. Miss M. Hezlet, who had won her second Championship at Deal in 1902, was challenged by a thoroughly representative field of 76, drawn from nearly every golfing centre in the United Kingdom. There were practically no surprises until the morning of the third day, when the holder was beaten in the last green by Miss M. E. Stuart, also a member of the Royal Portrush Ladies' Club. The victories of Miss F. Walker Leigh over Miss E. C. Nevile, and of Miss A. Buckley over Miss M. A. Graham, the 1901 Champion, were also somewhat unexpected. In the sixth round Miss F. Walker Leigh won cleverly from Miss V. Hezlet, and Miss M. E. Stuart kept up her good form by beating Miss Dod by a hole, but Miss A. Buckley was outplayed by Miss R. K. Adair.

On the closing day (Friday, May 8th) Miss F. Macbeth, Lytham and St. Annes G.C., England's sole remaining hope, who had worked her way right pluckily into the "semi-finals," gave Miss F. Walker Leigh a splendid game. The match was square at the turn and again at the home hole, and two extra holes had to be played ere the latter won. Nearly as exciting was the tussle between Miss R. K. Adair and Miss M. E. Stuart. Although the latter turned four down, she had the match squared at the seventeenth hole. Miss Stuart was, however, bunkered with her second to the home hole, and Miss Adair entered the final tie for the third time. In the final Miss Adair took the lead straightaway, and had increased it to four holes at the sixth hole. Throwing nothing away thereafter, she easily held her advantage, and was hailed winner of her second Championship at the fifteenth green. With the presentation of the Championship Cup and Medals by Colonel Pottinger,

Captain of the Royal Portrush G.C., a successful and enjoyable meeting terminated. Details :—

THE IRISH LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP, 1903.

THE tenth Irish Ladies' Golf Championship Meeting was held last year at Portrush over the splendid links of the Royal Portrush Golf Club, which Club deserves an extra word of praise and the grateful thanks of all lady golfers for so kindly allowing the two Ladies' Championships to be played over their course and for generously giving prizes for the scratch score competitions, which preceded each tournament. Miss May Hezlet's score of 81 proved easily the winning one for the score competition which commenced the week's play on Monday May 11th, and a capital one it was, beating her own 87 of the previous Monday, when she won the score competition in the Open Ladies' Championship.

There were 43 entries for the Championship, and on May 12th, the opening day, the weather was ideal and the first and second rounds were played under perfect conditions. In the second round Miss Magill was in capital form and easily defeated Mrs. Hezlet. The Misses Hezlet (three) all had sweeping victories, as had Miss Adair. It was a disappointment to many that Miss F. Walker-Leigh found it necessary to scratch, for she has several times been very near Championship honours, and is a fine dashing player. The third round was played in half a gale of wind, made more unpleasant by rain squalls, but Miss May Hezlet seems to play her best in such weather. Playing beautifully in the morning she defeated her sister, Miss F. Hezlet, and in the afternoon, in the fourth round, avenged her defeat of the week before by beating Miss M. E. Stuart by seven and six. Miss Adair had some luck in the draw, as her first really formidable opponent was Miss May Hezlet in the semi-final. This was the best match of the tournament and was followed by a large and interesting gallery, for all felt that the winner of this match would win the Championship. The prowess of these two golfers has on many occasions sustained and enhanced the reputation of Irish Ladies' golf. It was an even match as far as the tenth hole, when Miss Adair got an advantage by winning the next two. The thirteenth was halved by Miss Hezlet showing great judgment in a rather awkward lie, and the fourteenth was also halved by good play. At the fifteenth Miss Hezlet aroused the enthusiasm of the spectators by holing a magnificent thirty feet putt, but Miss Adair cleverly secured a half by holing a six feet putt. At the sixteenth Miss Hezlet missed an easy putt which cost her the hole and the match, Miss Adair thus winning by three and two. In the final round Miss Adair playing on the top of her form had a substantial victory over Miss V. Hezlet, winning the Championship for the fourth time in succession. A most successful meeting was brought to a close by the prizes being given to the successful competitors by Colonel Pottinger, and a hearty vote of thanks was proposed and carried to the Royal Portrush Golf Club for their hospitality to competitors during the week. THE SCOTCH LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP, 1903.

A LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP for Scotland was successfully inaugurated at St. Andrews, last Summer, by the St. Rule Ladies' Golf Club, play starting on Tuesday, June 16th, and extending over the three following days. An entry of 46 must have gratified the promoters. Among these was Miss M. A. Graham, the 1901 Lady Champion, who was regarded as a likely winner. She qualified for the final with Miss A. Glover, of Elie, but the latter came victorious out of the stiffest of matches, in which she had none the best of the luck. She turned one up, but it was all to play for with a hole to go. Miss Graham's second was trapped in the road, and Miss Glover, who was nicely home with her third, laid her long putt dead, and won her first Championship. Both ladies played fine golf throughout, and others who showed form far above the average were the Misses Park, of Musselburgh. Details:—

ERIN GO BRAGH.

By REV. T. D. MILLER, M.A.

It was one of the spectators at Dollymount who volunteered his views on the philosophy of sport, especially in its application to "the new game." "It was a while," he said, "before I could see what the pleasure was of whip-whippin' a ball like a boy with a top, but truth, indeed, one gets fond of anything that takes his fancy. I mind when I was a boy, there was a game we used to play with little metal balls about a pound weight apiece, rollin' them up an' down the road, an' I got so fond of it I used to play it all by myself, and in the dusk too, sometimes losin' the balls in the hedge or the ditch, but I never minded the least bit. I once knew a man called Dane who got so fond of playin' at cards, that when his wife went off to market, he drove the pig away to another one, just to get money enough to play at the cards. But about this golf, it seems to me to be just like billiards on the grass, an' I've sat a whole night lookin' on at billiards an' never felt the least bit tired of it, an' it's the truth I'm tellin' you." My philosophic casual acquaintance felt that some such apology was demanded for the interest he showed in a game he knew so little of. His definition had the merit of being thoroughly original. Golf is spreading rapidly in Ireland, for the virtues which we admire in others we soon begin to cultivate in ourselves, and the apologetic onlooker begins in time to try his own hand at "billiards on the green."

Although golf is still a novelty in many parts of the Green Isle, no one who has crossed the Channel and seen the well-appointed greens at Newcastle (Co. Down), Portrush, Portmarnock, and Dollymount can doubt that the game has laid firm hold of the Sister Isle; and every season gives fresh proof that, besides the two great centres of life and industry, many other towns are waking to the merits and advantages of the game.

The two leading northern greens offer first-class sport, on reasonable terms, for the roving golfer, and on the authority of the unimpeachable Tom, Newcastle holds the palm among Irish links, with yawning chasms, dunes, dykes, and ditches, and what is better, some fine long stretches of firm sward. But if we would see Hibernian golf courses in their proper Irish environment we must go further south, and in the vicinity of Dublin we get a choice of two other of Ireland's better-known links, Dollymount and Portmarnock.

Portmarnock, though preferable in some ways, is less easily accessible, though by rail, road, and river it can be reached in little more than half an hour from Amiens Street Station. Training to Sutton, a thriving little suburb, with a golf course of its own, you take car along the shore of an inlet to Baldoyle, and, if the tide be in, are ferried across to the Clubhouse in the Club's boat. Our Jerry was not sure what the waterway really was. "It's a river," he said, "an' yet not a river, for there's not water enough to keep the flow constant like: it resembles more the drainin's av the say. But, anyhow, once yer over yer landed!" The very variety of conveyance tends to enliven the journey, although the double trip unquestionably cuts into the limits of an afternoon. It is a fine golfing ground, well equipped and well kept, or how else could its curator have won his promotion to the premier links of the kingdom? There is abundance of rough, natural fringe which serves to give the pull to the straight driver. Several of the holes in the first half run up and down between parallel ranges of dunes, and deflection to the right or left means heavy ground and a sloping footing. Further on we get free of the steep, rough, heathy slopes, and find broad stretches of turf, as at the 11th, or "wilderness," and the 15th and 16th holes, the latter of which is a good 500 yards. The traps are laid with care and discrimination, and the greens, which display the beauty and freshness of youth, are both wide and firm, a fact which speaks volumes for the successor of the venerable Tom.

That the wind can blow occasionally off the Channel is evidenced by the one or two strongly buttressed shanties to be found on the peninsula, built to weather the gale, their unkempt thatch showing signs of recent stress; and, when occupied on the eastward edge, the player is sometimes exposed to the additional discomfort of the sand cloud. The conformation of the green is that of a double loop, like the figure 8, with the Clubhouse near the junction of the rings. Thirsty players will, at once, see the benefit of such an arrangement, but a greater advantage is the more expeditious dispatching of a large arrival of players, some of whom are willing to start on the second half of the round. If the tide be out when the game is over, cars await the players and bowl them over the sand flat to the return train on the Hill o' Howth line. If the golfing pilgrim can spare the time, he will be well repaid by taking the electric car to the summit of the hill and viewing the coast from the Mourne Mountains overshadowing Newcastle to the Sugar Loaf of Wicklow, and, with a clear atmosphere, he will be able to detect on the far horizon over the Channel the chief summits of the Cambrian Range.

Dollymount, the home of the "Royal Dublin," is within easier reach, about four miles down the bay. The car takes us from Nelson's Pillar to the upper end of the North Bull, a large sandbank, which has been converted from waste land into a perennial source of health and enjoyment. The Clubhouse, like that of Portmarnock picturesque and comfortable, is on the near point of the bank which is insulated at high water, and a wooden bridge from the sea-wall of Raheny, where lovers "pick cockles on the strand," takes one at once on to the links. After a few holes of fairly open country, we get among huge hummocks with plenty of bent and bunker, and these last become more numerous as we approach the end of the outward half. On the return journey, which takes us along the inner shore of the Bull, with here and there artificial hazards stretching across the line of play, some of them, here as elsewhere last season, being converted into water pots, we find more level country and experience fewer heavy lies. The superfluity of water made some pieces of the homegoing stretch too much of a morass to be enjoyable, and running impossible. But they are going to alter all that at Dollymount, where Hood has for some time been pressing for some change for the better; and the Green Committee has resolved to shift a couple of holes from the flat so often flooded, so that there will be no further necessity of jiggling it among a network of water-pools. There is plenty of high and dry ground on the seaward side, and though it will mean laying out one or two of the outgoing holes afresh, the roughness will disappear all too soon for those who would rather see a links with too many hazards than too few. Cherish the gorse and the bent, for they add to the pleasure of the game. They have many times brought joy to the sorrowful and hope to the despondent, and it is painful to notice how scarce they become on some world-famous links;

Where are now the thick scrub bushes
That distressed the swipers wild?
Where the belt of bothersome rushes
I remember when a child,
Stretching strong across the bee-line
Near the Corner o' the Dyke?
Golf is shorn of half its glory
Where there's neither whin nor syke.

The big event of last season was the visit of the Lord Lieutenant's Easter party, consisting, as it did, of the very pick of the English and Scottish professionals, with a strong phalanx of "Royal and Ancient" players. These for a week alternated their matches over Dollymound and Portmarnock, and the spectators, of whom there were large crowds, were treated to an exhibition of golf at its highest water-mark.

Lord Dudley's golf is an inherited faculty. It is bred in the bone. His grandfather won distinction, in the middle of last century, both on St. Andrews and Blackheath, and is found figuring along with such giants as Coudie, Hay, Glennie, Maitland Dougal, and Boothby; and a generation further back, Sir David Moncrieff held the highest office in the Ancient Club, being elected while yet younger of Moncrieff to the Captaincy in 1817, not as a mere figure-head, for he was a player of the front rank, and is to be found in the Club's list of Gold Medallists.

But what gave Lord Dudley's company its chiefest interest was the presence of the four foremost golfers of the age. There have been strong combinations in the past, Allan Robertson and the senior Morris, Park and Ferguson of Musselburgh, Young Tommy and Strath, that have in their time played many matches, and gained many notable victories. The last couple were twin-stars of the greatest brilliancy, whose fires were dimmed all too soon. But nothing has been seen before, in the way of groups of players, quite like the quartette, an international combination, that has defied competition and led the field for so many stirring years. They have provided a remarkable episode in the history of golf, that despite the possibilities of the numerous greens, and the efforts of powerful rivals, time after time they have headed the list with seldom more than three strokes between the four. So it was in the case of the Easter Tournament. They met at the site and within one day, according to the ecclesiastical Calendar, of the anniversary of Brian Boroinhe's historic victory over the Danes, and though they did not encounter any Irish players, they fought valiantly against one another and other brother Saxons, and the order at the end of the day was Braid, Taylor, Vardon, and Herd. Braid's 71, on the occasion, wiped out the record of the green, a feat all the more remarkable from his being practically a stranger to Dollymount. At Portmarnock, in the stroke competition, the order was much the same, though a gale swept the course, and militated against low scoring. Although the possibility of divergence was thus increased, yet the order and scores were again: Braid, 77; Vardon and Herd, 79; and Taylor, 80.

It is impossible that such exhibitions as these should not influence opinion to the advancement and increased popularity of the game. No one could see such finished execution without entering into something of the pleasure of the game, and without the desire of following, it may be longo intervallo, these doughty champions.

Golf, with its octopus arms, has seized hold upon the Green Isle, and, especially along the Eastern coast, there is a chain of links that bid fair, in time, to rival the better-known greens of the Predominant Partner. But, meanwhile, golf is an upper-class game there. The artisan has not yet discovered its merits and adaptability. There must be plenty of Common ground, where, for the common good, a golf course could easily be maintained at little cost. In the Phoenix Park, where the Royal Dublin found the first sphere of their operations, there is no lack of space, and with the judicious employment of sheep and cattle, the turf could easily be kept in the necessary order, and a real boon conferred upon over-driven citizens who cannot afford large entrance fees.

Some of the peasantry, ignorant of the advantages to be reaped from the cultivation of golf, if not in open rebellion, at any rate look askance upon the game. They are jealous of interference with their rights and resent any trespass on their patches of pasture or potatoes, where these border on the golf courses. Instead of merely impounding the ball, as some fellow agriculturists do, they appear to adopt more violent, if less lucrative, measures. At Lisfannon, for example, a small-holder bayoneted a trespasser with a farm-fork, and the Club had to turn out in force to separate the desperate combatants in what was likely to have proved a deadly combat—a solemn warning, surely, to those who are accustomed to diverge far from the straight path. But the golfers are not the only sufferers, for there are two sides to every question, and we heard of one poor woman on the public highway, who was injured by a badly heeled ball, and who supported her claim for damages with native emphasis and volubility. "I never saw a healthy day," she said, addressing the magistrates at the Athlone Quarter Sessions, "from the time I was struck; my insides are all done up, and I can't eat a second bit, yer honour!" And when asked if she did not see the ball coming, her ready retort was, "Sure if I saw it coming wouldn't I be getting out of the way?" She won the sympathy of the court and was awarded one-half her claim of £10. When the player realises that the choice lies between "fore" and £5, he will do his utmost to assure himself that the coast is clear, and the risk to passers-by as small as possible.

In due time the knowledge and appreciation of the game, in all its aspects, will filter down, and some of the peasantry will reap a richer harvest from the links than from their potato patch; and before long we will find a body of Irish-born professionals prepared to do battle with the Anglo-Saxons on "the Green Field of the Bull."

The amateurs have already proved their metal, and players like Messrs. Cairnes (Portmarnock) and Gibson (Dollymount), who have a capital record, and showed first-class form in the Easter Party matches, will be found to be hard nuts to crack in the Championship ties. From North to South there will soon be keen rivalry which Club is to be first custodians of the Cup, when it is taken across the Channel.

When we see the relish and keenness for golf in Old Ireland, and the crowds of spectators out on the breezy heath, drinking draughts of ozone, inflating their lungs, stretching their muscles, and flinging care to the winds, we cannot but feel that a very substantial measure of justice has been done to that once "distressful country," in supplying her with so lasting a source of pleasure and recreation, not to speak of unity and peace, when her sons and daughters find a substitute in the witching birch and hickory for the once popular and pugnacious black-thorn.

AN ISLAY GENIUS—RONALD MACARTHUR.

By REV. JOHN KERR, M.A.

WE give a portrait of Mr. Ronald Macarthur who, though he is entitled "Golf Club Maker," is fit to make anything from a needle to an anchor. Every golfer who has visited the famous Machrie course is familiar with Ronald, who is, perhaps, the most noted native in the place, and quite a character in his way. Though very much a self-taught man, he is a capital draughtsman, and one of his hobbies is to draw scenes of Islay and Port Ellen, and engrave them on golf-clubs. The Premier is one of several who have had sets of clubs made and decorated by Ronald.

When golf was started in Islay some twenty years ago, Ronald was one of the first to take it up, and no keener hand exists. Naturally he has not attained to scratch position, but he plays a good game, and more than once has attained distinction in club competitions. The crowning mercy of Ronald's career as a golfer came to him last autumn, when he won the chief prize presented by Mr. J. S. Higginbotham, the Captain of the Islay Club, one of the best-known golfers of Prestwich, who, for his health's sake, has for the last few years resided at Machrie, and done much for the development of golf there. Mr. Higginbotham's prize was rather a novel one, viz: "a red silken tie, with a valuable gold pin, the head being the figure of a bee-head of gold and pearl, and wings of gold and diamonds, and body of amethyst or sapphire." The description is Ronald's own, and itself is a work of genius. The play for the coveted prize lasted for three months (August—October, 1903), and was conducted on the American handicap principle, the various matches being keenly contested. Mr. Reid, Factor on the Kildalton Estate, on which Machrie course is situated, was the runner-up in the contest, and he received also a prize given by the popular Captain of the Club.

The numerous golfers who have visited Machrie and admired the course, which is one of the best, if not the best, in the world, will be pleased to hear that last season was a record one in way of success for the genial kindly hostess of Machrie—Miss Mackay—who is thoroughly deserving of even the highest success for all her efforts to make visitors comfortable at the Hotel.

THE AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP, 1903.

It would seem as if the course of the Honourable Company of Edinburgh Golfers at Muirfield were to be distinguished above the other four Championship courses. When the Championship was held there in 1897 the late Dr. A. J. T. Allan won with unexpected ease, and for last year's meeting the Committee of Management were confronted with a record entry of 142. A notable absentee was Mr. C. Hutchings, the 1902 winner, who was prevented by ill-health from competing. Such a large entry necessitated an earlier start than heretofore, hence play had to begin on Monday, May 18th. As a result of the ballot, twenty-eight entrants had to "face the music" thus early. The weather conditions could scarcely have been improved upon, and not a single surprise was sprung. Mr. E. B. H. Blackwell easily accounted for another long driver in Mr. C. S. Everard, and Mr. J. Graham, jun., had something in hand of Mr. H. G. Castle, one of the hopes of Southern England. But the feature of the first round was the victory of the veteran Mr. W. Doleman over Mr. W. Brander, jun. Born in 1838, and one of the finest players of his generation, the former showed he did not lag superfluous by winning at the nineteenth hole. All honour to the veteran and no disgrace to the younger man.

The battle began in grim earnest on Tuesday morning, when those who had been lucky enough to draw byes in the first round led off as early as nine o'clock. The weather conditions were delightful, but when a long day's play had ended after seven o'clock, assuredly the most ardent lovers of the game had had more than sufficient. In the field were several aspirants with not the slenderest claims to Championship form, and, if things go on as at present, the Committee of Management will require to frame some scheme to keep vainglorious players from making exhibitions of themselves. The first match to attract interest was that between last year's Scotch International representatives Messrs. F. McKenzie and J. R. Gairdner. The former took the lead straightaway with a moderate 4, and never lost it. The latter never settled to his usual accurate short game, and was three down at the turn. Coming home, the leader threw nothing away, and won comfortably on the fifteenth green. Mr. A. Stuart (Hon. Company), who made a welcome re-appearance after an absence from the Championship of several years, showed old-time ability against Mr. N. Macbeth, the hope of St. Annes, whose supporters were dismayed when he succumbed with a hole to go. Mr. J. L. Jenkins, a Troon boy of sixteen, earned golden opinions by his fine putting against Mr. J. L. Lawson (Edinburgh University). Round in 79, he won by two holes. Messrs. R. Maxwell and H. W. Beveridge walked over, but Mr. H. H. Hilton had a stiff fight before he accounted for Mr. T. W. Robb. Mr. Hilton won the first hole, but Mr. Robb promptly squared accounts, and took the lead at the third, which he had in 3 in virtue of a very long putt. Mr. Hilton drew level at the fourth, however, and, forging ahead, turned with two holes in hand. All went well with him afterwards, and he won by three and two. Hard on their heels came Mr. W. N. Boase, the Leven crack, and Mr. A. S. Johnston, one of Edinburgh's most promising young players. They proved splendidly matched, and it was all to play for with two to go. Mr. Johnston took the lead at the seventeenth, however, and won by a hole. Mr. J. E. Laidlay had a tight match with Mr. J. Ranken for the greater part of the round. The latter won the first two holes in rare style, but Mr. Laidlay pocketed the third, and drew level at the seventh with a long steal. Honours were easy at the twelfth, but Mr. Laidlay ran away with the next four holes, and so won his way into the third round. Mr. W. G. Stewart, one of the strongest players in the West of Scotland, beat Lieut. C. Hutchison more easily than was expected, but Mr. J. L. Low had a big surprise sprung upon him by Mr. S. A. Gillon, as plucky and determined a player as there was in the field. The pair were level at the sixteenth, but Mr. Low looked like winning when Mr. Gillon missed his drive to the seventeenth. The latter, however, sent home a full second, and ran down his putt for a 3. He also got down a useful putt for a half at the home hole, and so qualified to take the leading part in the afternoon in what was one of the most prolonged struggles in the history of the Championship. Mr. J. Robb was taken to the last hole by Mr. H. E. Taylor (Richmond), but there he ran down a good putt, and won by the narrowest of margins. Much was expected from Mr. W. C. White (Mortonhall), admittedly the best of the young Edinburgh players, but he failed to play to form against the veteran, Mr. A. Macdonald, until the last seven holes. At this point he stood three down, but managed to draw level at the seventeenth, although he had been laid a dead stinnie at the fourteenth. He was laid another stinnie on the home green, and so suffered an unlucky defeat. That "hero of a hundred fights," Mr. S. Mure Fergusson, had a stiff nut to crack in Mr. W. Ballingall, a Bronze Medallist in the early days of the Championship. He turned two down, but had the match squared with two to go. He, however, missed a short putt at the seventeenth, and, as the home hole was halved, had thus early to admit defeat. Mr. J. G. Simpson, the rising young St. Andrews 'Varsity player, did a good performance in beating the Hon. O. Scott, after a tie, but another English Internationalist in Mr. H. G. Hutchinson had a comfortable journey against Mr. P. H. A. Booth (Royal St. George's). Not so, however, Mr. S. H. Fry, the 1902 runner-up, to whom Mr. W. E. Fairlie administered an unmerciful trouncing. That "mighty swiper," Mr. E. B. H. Blackwell, had to go all the way to beat Mr. J. S. Worthington, of Metropolitan fame, for it was not until he ran down a good putt for a 3 at the fifteenth that he got the lead. The round terminated with a tie between Mr. E. A. Lassen, the Yorkshire ex-Champion, and Mr. A. D. Blyth (Royal St. George's), which the former won at the nineteenth hole.

In the third round surprises were plentiful. They began with the defeat of Mr. W. H. Fowler on the last green by Mr. H. W. De Zoete, the old Cantab cricketer. Then Mr. W. S. Colville, by fine golf, beat Mr. B. Darwin on the seventeenth green, while Mr. L. M. Balfour-Melville, who scarcely seemed at home on the putting greens, was taken to the last hole by Mr. J. H. Maxwell. A grand match was that between Messrs. F. McKenzie and W. B. Taylor. Few holes were lost and won, and they were on level terms with three to go. Just, however, as another half seemed on the cards, Mr. Taylor, disconcerted by a restless boy, missed his approach, and Mr. McKenzie stepped in front. The latter also won the seventeenth hole, and therewith the match. Mr. G. F. Smith (Southport) proved a little too good for young Jenkins, and Mr. R. Maxwell had the easiest of wins over Mr. D. Anderson, of Carnoustie. Against the long-driving Mr. Beveridge, Mr. Hilton turned two up, and this was still the position at the twelfth. Mr. Beveridge won the thirteenth, and drew level at the seventeenth, en route to which both were bunkered. A half at the home hole necessitated an extra hole, which Mr. Beveridge won in 3—a very good performance on his part. Messrs. Johnston and Laidlay played almost perfect golf to the turn, which they reached all square. It was thereafter give and take, Mr. Laidlay being one up and two to go. He, however, played the seventeenth badly, and Mr. Johnson pocketed it with a good putt. Both were nicely over the bunker guarding the home hole with their seconds, but Mr. Laidlay's approach putt lacked legs, and Mr. Johnston was deservedly hailed the winner. Immediately behind them came Messrs. Gillon and Stewart, who prolonged their tussle to the twenty-third hole, where the latter was laid an aggravating stinnie, and so lost. Mr. Gillon again showed rare grit, and putted in deadly fashion time after time. Mr. J. Robb cut up very disappointingly against Mr. J. G. Craik, whom he had beaten easily at Hoylake in 1902. He lost three out of the opening four holes, and, try as he liked, he could not get on terms. After Mr. Ballingall's good display against Mr. Fergusson, he was expected to beat Colonel Kinloch, but the latter won cleverly without playing the last two holes. Mr. J. Ball won similarly against Mr. Simpson, and Messrs. Hutchinson, Blackwell, J. Graham, and C. E. Dick had little difficulty in pulling through. Mr. A. R. Aitken (Prestwick) and Mr. H. A. Boyd, the Irish crack, had an exciting game as a wind up to the day's proceedings, the former winning by one hole.

Wednesday broke dull and threatening, and several showers fell in the forenoon; but, on the whole, the conditions were favourable, the light being subdued and the greens true as a die. Messrs. De Zoete and Bell started the fourth round, and the former won very cleverly. A good match was looked for between Mr. C. E. Hambro and the youthful Machrihanish crack,

Mr. W. S. Colville, but the former proved completely off colour, and was beaten at the twelfth hole. Another young player in Mr. H. L. Pardom (Hawick) gave Mr. Balfour-Melville more trouble than was bargained for. He won two out of the first three holes, but the veteran squared at the sixth hole, and, going ahead, turned two up. Thereafter halves were the order until the short hole, where Mr. Pardom reduced his deficit to a hole, and, with another succession of halves, the ex-Champion won by a hole. Messrs. McKenzie and Stuart took a long time to settle down. They turned on even terms, but Mr. Stuart thereupon drove out of bounds, and his opponent gained an advantage, which he had increased to three holes when the match was finished on the sixteenth green. Mr. Beveridge gave an excellent account of himself against the redoubtable Mr. Maxwell. The latter turned two up, but lost the eleventh, where he hooked his second close to the wall, and had to play the ball with his back to the hole, taking two strokes to extricate himself. He, however, won the twelfth, and the verdict went in his favour at the sixteenth, where Mr. Beveridge laid himself a stinnie which he failed to loft. Mr. Johnston scarcely played so well against Mr. Gillon as he had done on the previous day; yet he seemed to be in a winning position when he stood two to the good with four to go. With characteristic pluck, however, Mr. Gillon won the next three holes, and it was only by winning the home hole that Mr. Johnston was enabled to square the round. Two extra holes were necessary ere Mr. Gillon won, thanks to his laying his opponent a stinnie, as he had done to Mr. Stewart on the previous afternoon. The tie between Messrs. Blackwell and H. E. Hambro provided a rare sensation. The former seemed "on velvet" when he stood two up and three to go; but, instead of playing a safe second to the long sixteenth, he tried to get home. He was trapped and lost the hole. The seventeenth was halved, but, after a very long drive to the home hole, Mr. Blackwell topped his approach, and Mr. Hambro, holing a useful putt, squared the round. The nineteenth and twentieth holes were halved, both players showing signs of having had enough; but Mr. Blackwell gave his plucky antagonist the entrée into the fifth round by missing a very short putt at the twenty-first hole. Another result that was in the nature of a surprise was the defeat of Mr. Graham by Mr. Dick. The latter turned two up and became dormy at the fifteenth. He got the necessary half at the sixteenth, and so won by three and two. Of the other ties in the fourth round perhaps the most interesting was that between Messrs. Hutchinson and Ross. The former won the first three holes and the latter the fourth. Then came no fewer than thirteen successive halves, so Mr. Hutchinson won by two and one. Mr. Fairlie kept up his good form by beating Mr. Aitken by a like margin, and Mr. Ball had an easy journey against Colonel Kinloch. Messrs. Macdonald and Craik were both slack, and the laying of a stimie by the former at the sixteenth hole had a deal to do with his winning by a hole. The other matches call for no comment.

The golf displayed by Messrs. De Zoete and Colville, who led off in the afternoon, was not of a particularly bright order. The long game of the former was wild, and the latter putted weakly. Mr. Colville turned one up, but Mr. De Zoete drew level at the eleventh, and pocketed the next three holes in fine style. Mr. Colville won the fifteenth hole, but it availed him nothing, as he had to admit defeat two holes later. The match between Messrs. Balfour-Melville and McKenzie drew away a large company, who were rewarded by a magnificent display on the part of the veteran. He led by two holes at the turn, which he reached in 35, and, keeping up his fine form, won by five and three. Albeit beaten, Mr. McKenzie was in no way disgraced, for the winner's game was simply irresistible. Messrs. Pease and Smith had a stiff tussel, which ended in the former's favour at the seventeenth hole; but Mr. Maxwell, whose play was on a par with that of Mr. Balfour-Melville, did not allow Mr. Gillon to win a single hole. Seven up at the turn, he won three holes later. Mr. Macdonald held the whip hand of Mr. Learthart throughout, and Mr. Ball proved too heavy metal for Mr. Mossop. Two up at the turn, he got dormy at the short hole, and won at the next. Mr. Hutchinson, turning three up, looked like beating Mr. Fairlie easily, but the latter hung on determinedly, and the issue was not settled in the former's favour until the seventeenth hole. There was little to choose between Messrs. Dick and Hambro for the greater part of the way. They were all square at the twelfth, but Mr. Hambro presented Mr. Dick with the thirteenth by missing a short putt.

The golf that followed was sensational. Mr. Hambro ran down a twelve yards' putt for a 2 at a short hole, and Mr. Dick laid his ball dead out of the bunker short of the fifteenth green, and won the hole in 3. He missed his drive to the sixteenth, and, although he recovered well, he had to play two more. With questionable judgment Mr. Hambro tried to carry the green with his second. He was badly punished, and actually lost the hole, as Mr. Dick found the bottom from six yards. At the seventeenth Mr. Dick ran down another long putt for a 3, and therewith secured the match.

The outlook on Thursday morning was far from promising, but shortly before the start the wind freshened up from the West and blew away the lowering clouds. If stiff, the breeze was steady, and gave little trouble to the players. After his brilliant display on the previous afternoon much was expected from Mr. Balfour-Melville, who was pitted against Mr. De Zoete. He drew ahead at the second hole, thanks to Mr. De Zoete missing a very short putt. The latter, however, got level at the sixth hole, where it was Mr. Balfour-Melville's turn to show weakness on the green. Both sliced out of bounds approaching the eighth hole, but better putting by Mr. De Zoete enabled him to take the lead. Two steady halves led up to the eleventh, which Mr. De Zoete lost by missing another short putt. He was bunkered at the twelfth hole, and Mr. Balfour-Melville again assumed the lead, only to lose it at the short hole, where he failed to pitch over the bunker, Mr. Balfour-Melville profiting by a slack run of Mr. De Zoete's, won the fifteenth hole, but he missed two simple little putts at the two succeeding holes, and Mr. De Zoete, halving the home hole, won by one. Messrs. Maxwell and Pease scarcely played to form for the first few holes. The former won the second hole in 5, and the four succeeding holes were halved, Mr. Maxwell having a slice of luck going to the fifth, inasmuch as his second, with a driving iron, ran through the bunker. A good run up gave him the seventh hole, and with a lovely 3 to the ninth he turned three up. He lost the eleventh by putting his second over the dyke, but re-established his lead of three at the short hole, where Mr. Pease was trapped. A useful putt at the sixteenth hole saw Mr. Pease reduce his deficit to two, but a half at the seventeenth finished the match in Mr. Maxwell's favour. Against

Mr. Macdonald Mr. Ball began in anything but promising style. He did not get away well from the tee, and Mr. Macdonald won the hole in 4. A deadly pitch, however, enabled Mr. Ball to square straightaway, and a very good 3 to the fourth saw him take the lead, only to lose it at the sixth, where Mr. Macdonald holed in one off his iron. Mr. Ball got nicely home in 2 at the eighth and deservedly won the hole, but he laid himself a stimie at the ninth, and the pair faced homeward on level terms. Mr. Macdonald was in difficulties at the next two holes, and lost both, but Mr. Ball lost the twelfth through being trapped from the tee. Mr. Macdonald ran down a ten yards' putt for a 3 at the thirteenth, and halved the short hole in a like figure. Mr. Ball topped his drive to the fifteenth. He recovered well, but a picture of an approach gave Mr. Macdonald his third successive 3, and a lead of a hole. The three remaining holes were halved, consequently Mr. Macdonald won a grand match by the slenderest of margins. Mr. Hutchinson began well against Mr. Dick by winning the first hole, but he played the third and fourth very badly, and allowed Mr. Dick to get in front. Mr. Hutchinson, however, won the fifth hole, Mr. Dick being bunkered with his second. A magnificent approach saw Mr. Dick again in front at the sixth, but a too strong pitch cost him the seventh, and honours were easy at the turn. Mr. Dick again went in front at the tenth, which he had in 3 in virtue of a good putt, but Mr. Hutchinson ran away with the next three holes, Mr. Dick being bunkered with a pulled drive to the eleventh, short with his run up to the twelfth, and weak on the thirteenth green. He atoned in some measure for these mistakes by winning the short hole, but a two-foot putt beat him at the fifteenth, and, missing his drive to the sixteenth, he lost that hole also, and the match.

In the afternoon the bulk of the spectators elected to follow Messrs. Maxwell and De Zoete, but had they accompanied the second couple they would have seen better golf. Mr. Maxwell pulled out of bounds to the first hole, and then missed his approach, but he won the second, Mr. De Zoete having pulled into the rough, and failed to recover at the first attempt. Of the five succeeding holes Mr. Maxwell won three, but he sliced his second to the eighth out of bounds, and, missing an approach thereafter, gave up the hole. Mr. De Zoete knocked another hole from Mr. Maxwell's lead at the tenth by holing a four yards' putt for a 3, and drew level at the twelfth, Mr. Maxwell's second having carried over the green. Mr. Maxwell regained the lead at the short hole, which he had in 2 to Mr. De Zoete's 4, the latter having duffed his iron shot. The fifteenth was halved in 4, but Mr. De Zoete, although bunkered with his second to the long hole, got well out, and holed a long putt for the hole. Mr. Maxwell once more got in front at the seventeenth, but he missed his drive to the home hole, and, down in 4, Mr. De Zoete squared the match. Both got on to the nineteenth green with their pitches. Mr. Maxwell's long putt ran four feet past the hole, but Mr. De Zoete's like was very short. His second putt was also played gingerly, but it left Mr. Maxwell with a partial stimie to negotiate. He grazed Mr. De Zoete's ball and trickled into the hole amidst loud applause, thus entering a Championship final for the first time. As already stated, Messrs. Hutchinson and Macdonald played fine, steady golf. The first two holes were halved, but Mr. Macdonald ran down a five yards putt at the third, and won the hole. Mr. Hutchinson squared at the sixth with a good approach and putt, Mr. Macdonald's second with a "baffy" being rather strong. Of the three remaining outward holes two were halved, but Mr. Macdonald lost the ninth, a long tee shot being unluckily trapped. The tenth was indifferently played by both and halved in 5. The eleventh was nicely halved in a like figure, but a long, straight second gave Mr. Hutchinson the twelfth in 4. By running down a good putt Mr. Macdonald got a hard half of the thirteenth hole, but he lost the short hole in 3 to 4. A half in 5 at the fifteenth put Mr. Hutchinson in a comfortable position, and he won on the next green.

The weather conditions for the final tie on Friday were not so favourable as on the four preceding days. A strong wind blew from the South-west, and seemed to bother both men, as the play for the most part was scarcely in keeping with their high reputations. Mr. Maxwell won the first hole in 4, Mr. Hutchinson's pitch being very short. Mr. Maxwell carried the bunker guarding the second green in two, but he missed his little iron pitch from the rough to the right, and then being short with his run up, lost the hole in 5. Mr. Hutchinson sliced his approach to the third hole, and allowed Mr. Maxwell to take the lead again. After an indifferent half in 5 at the fourth, a lovely second by Mr. Hutchinson carried hole high at the fifth, and he again squared accounts. He scarcely got one of his best from the sixth tee, and, in endeavouring to spare his second with a wooden club, topped badly. Mr. Maxwell, however, failed to take advantage of his opponent's mistake, and the hole was halved in 5. Mr. Hutchinson had hard lines at the next hole. He laid a running approach dead, but in playing the odds Mr. Maxwell stimied him and robbed him of the hole. Mr. Hutchinson sliced into the rough going to the eighth hole, and Mr. Maxwell again got the lead, as he played the hole in faultless fashion. It was then Mr. Maxwell's turn to make a mistake, as from the next tee he hooked the ball right of out bounds, but after Mr. Hutchinson, with a spared approach from a roughish lie, had found the bunker short of the green, Mr. Maxwell wrested a hard half with a three yards' putt, and so turned one up. The tenth hole was halved in 4, but Mr. Hutchinson presented Mr. Maxwell with the eleventh hole by missing a yard putt. Mr. Maxwell played the next hole badly. He took his approach heavily, it was bunkered, and after getting out he missed a four-foot putt, when playing two more, Mr. Maxwell was once more bunkered at the succeeding hole, but made a gallant bid for a half with a long putt, which rung the tin. Thus again were they all square. The players both got nicely over the bunker guarding the short hole, but Mr. Maxwell won it in 3 with a three yards putt, Mr. Hutchinson failing to get down with a like from a slightly shorter range. Bunkered from the tee, Mr. Hutchinson never came within sight of a half of the fifteenth hole, and he also lost the long hole, en route to which he had a bad lie for his second, and then had his third trapped. The seventeenth was halved, but Mr. Maxwell went further ahead at the home hole. He outdrove Mr. Hutchinson by fully thirty yards, and then sent a brilliant second straight home in the teeth of the wind. Thus he finished the first round four up.

In the afternoon the wind had moderated a little, and some real good golf was seen. Mr. Hutchinson had a slice of luck in cannoning off the wall going to the first hole, and he halved it in 4. Two good shots took Mr. Maxwell hole high at the second hole, and laying a little iron pitch dead he increased his lead to five holes. The third hole was halved in 4, but, too strong with his approach putt, Mr. Maxwell lost the fourth in a like figure. Mr. Hutchinson further improved his position at the fifth hole by getting down an eight-foot putt, as a reply to which Mr. Maxwell missed a two-foot putt for the half. The latter sliced his tee shot to the sixth hole, but lay fairly well in the bunker. He, however, had to play the odds on to the green, but snapped a half in 4. With a fine 3 to the next hole, he resumed his erstwhile lead of four, and with too steady halves in 5 and 4 he turned four up. The tenth was halved in 4, but Mr. Hutchinson played the eleventh badly, and that also went to swell Mr. Maxwell's bag. Mr. Hutchinson cut his second to the twelfth hole too fine; it was trapped, and Mr. Maxwell became dormy. The end came at the next hole, where Mr. Maxwell made a magnificent pitch from the grass in the bunker to the left, and then laid his putt on the lip of the hole. The Championship Cup and Gold Medal were handed to the Champion in front of the Clubhouse by Mr. L. M. Balfour-Melville, Captain of the Honourable Company, himself an old Champion; and he also handed the medals to the runner-up and semi-finalists, thus closing a thoroughly interesting and successful Championship. This year's Championship falls to be held at Sandwich on May 30th and the four succeeding days.

ENGLAND v. SCOTLAND.

THE Championship week at Muirfield was concluded on Saturday, May 23rd, with the second international contest between these countries. Last year, when the contest was held at Hoylake under the auspices of the Royal Liverpool Golf Club, the teams consisted of ten players, and victory went to the country scoring the larger aggregate of holes over two full rounds. On the present occasion the teams were reduced to nine, and the decision was by matches, each win counting as one point. The English Selection Committee, in choosing their team, judiciously relied upon players known to be in good form. On the other hand, the Scotch Committee, in several instances, ignored public form as disclosed during the Championship—indeed, one of the selected did not even enter—and their labours by no means gave satisfaction. Had last year's mode of determining the issue been adhered to, England would have gained a hollow victory. As it was, the result hung in the balance until the last putt was played and holed by Mr. G. F. Smith, who gave England a win by one point. The weather was of the most delightful description, and play was followed with interest by a large attendance of spectators.

Mr. R. Maxwell and Mr. J. Ball led off, and, although the latter was suffering from the effects of a chill, he gave an excellent account of himself. But he had to admit his master in the Champion, whose long game and approaching could not have been excelled. Carrying the first green, the latter got down in 3 and took the lead. He also won the second hole in 4, Mr. Ball's run up being a trifle weak. The ex-Champion, however, won the third with the better approach, and squared accounts at the fourth, where Mr. Maxwell missed a short putt. Trapped with his second to the fifth, Mr. Ball seemed likely to lose it, but, with a good recovery, he wrested a half in 5. In virtue of a long putt for a 3, Mr. Maxwell re-assumed the lead at the sixth, and ought to have gone further ahead at the seventh, but failed to hole a short putt for a 3. The two remaining outward holes being halved, Mr. Maxwell turned one up. Down in 3 at the tenth, he increased his advantage to two holes, and, after three steady halves, he added the fourteenth and fifteenth holes to his bag, Mr. Ball missing short putts at each. The long hole went to Mr. Ball at 4, in virtue of a splendid approach, but he lost the seventeenth through weakness on the green, and the first round ended in Mr. Maxwell's favour by four holes. The scores speak eloquently for themselves: Mr. Maxwell—out, 3 4 5 5 5 3 4 4 4=37; in, 3 5 4 4 3 4 5 4 4=36—total, 73. Mr. Ball—out, 4 5 4 4 5 4 4 4 4=38; in, 4 5 4 4 4 5 4 5 4=39—total, 77.

Those old opponents, Mr. J. E. Laidlay and Mr. H. H. Hilton, scarcely proved so well matched as expected. The first three holes were halved, but Mr. Laidlay lost a good chance of drawing ahead at the third, en route to which Mr. Hilton pulled his second out of bounds. The latter got the lead at the fourth hole, Mr. Laidlay's approach to which was short, and, once in front, the Open ex-Champion never looked back. The fifth hole was halved, but Mr. Hilton ran away with the next three. He got the sixth in 3 with a twelve yards' putt, the seventh in a like figure, and the eighth in 4, Mr. Laidlay having been trapped from the tee. Mr. Hilton's tee shot to the ninth was bunkered, and his fine recovery did not avail him, as Mr. Laidlay got down a long steal for a 3, and so reduced his deficit at the turn to three holes. The tenth was halved in 4, but Mr. Hilton, with a picture of a run up, won the eleventh in 4. Approaching the twelfth hole, Mr. Laidlay was so badly bunkered that he had to lift his ball, but, following upon three steady halves, he reduced his leeway to four by winning the long hole, Mr. Hilton's third having found the bunker. Two holes terminated a well-played round on the part of the leader, whose figures were: Out, 4 5 5 4 4 3 3 4 4=36; in, 4 5 4 4 3 4 6 4 4=38—total, 74.

Mr. F. McKenzie began well against Mr. H. G. Hutchinson by winning the first two holes in 3 and 5. The third was halved, but a long putt gave Mr. Hutchinson the fourth in 3. The fifth was well won by Mr. McKenzie in 4, but, of the four succeeding holes, Mr. Hutchinson won all but the eighth, and so turned one up. Mr. McKenzie drew level at the thirteenth, but Mr. Hutchinson went in front for the second time at the short hole, where he laid his opponent a stimie. With the better approach Mr. McKenzie won the fifteenth hole, and got in front again at the long hole, Mr. Hutchinson getting badly bunkered. Two halves in 5 (one too many) enabled Mr. McKenzie to carry over a lead of one to the afternoon.

Mr. J. Graham and Mr. H. W. De Zoete both played slackly on the outward half, and turned on even terms. The tenth was halved, whereupon Mr. De Zoete, after pulling his drive, proceeded to put two successive balls out of bounds, and, of course, lost the hole. The twelfth was halved, but Mr. Graham was so badly punished at the thirteenth that he had to resign it. Of the five remaining holes Mr. De Zoete won three, and thus completed the round three up.

Mr. J. B. Pease held a slight advantage of the veteran Mr. Balfour-Melville after the third hole, and led by two at the turn. The latter got back one of these holes coming home. Indeed, he had a good chance of finishing the round square, but was weak on the home putting green.

Mr. S. M. Fergusson and Mr. S. H. Fry had one of the most interesting tussles of the day. They were all square at the sixteenth, but, dogged as ever, the former won the last two holes.

The match between Mr. H. G. Castle and Mr. J. Robb promised well at the turn, where Mr. Castle led by one. Coming home Mr. Robb, albeit compelling Mr. Castle to play the odds through the green, missed putt after putt, and stood seven down at the seventeenth. Mr. Castle's second to the last hole was bunkered, but Mr. Robb's position (six down) at this stage was none too comfortable.

Against Mr. W. H. Fowler, Mr. N. P. Hunter did nothing to justify his selection. Mr. Fowler was two up at the turn, and had increased his lead to five at the completion of the round. Both drove finely, but Mr. Hunter's short game left much to be desired.

Mr. G. F. Smith turned three up against Mr. C. E. Dick, and, try as he liked, the latter was unable to improve his position on the home-coming. The result of the forenoon's play was, therefore, that England held the advantage in two-thirds of the matches, with little prospect seemingly of the home team appreciably bettering their position.

In the second round Mr. Ball made a promising start against Mr. Maxwell by halving the first hole and winning the second and third. Nothing daunted, however, at his diminishing lead, the Champion reasserted himself. Fine approaches gave him the fourth and fifth holes, and he got down a long putt for a 3 at the sixth. Mr. Ball equalled this figure by a good putt at the seventh, and Mr. Maxwell ran down a long steal also for a 3 at the eighth. This sensational form on the part of both was deservedly applauded. Mr. Ball was bunkered at the ninth, and never came within sight of a half. Out in 36 Mr. Maxwell was now six up, and the end in view. It came at the twelfth, where Mr. Maxwell laid a long run up dead.

Mr. Hilton sent his first drive out of bounds, but made no mistake with his second, and, with Mr. Laidlay weak in approaching and putting, he actually won the hole in 4. With a deft little pitch over the bunker at the second, Mr. Hilton lay dead, and increased his lead to six. He also won the fourth and seventh holes, and turned eight to the good. He got dormy at the tenth, and won at the eleventh, thereby avenging his defeat at Holylake a year ago.

As Mr. McKenzie pulled out of bounds, Mr. Hutchinson drew level straightaway, but the former's long swiping enabled him to win the second and third holes, and he turned two up. He got a hard half of the tenth in 3 by a long putt, and won the eleventh by the help of a stimie. Mr. Hutchinson won the twelfth, Mr. McKenzie being badly bunkered, but the latter resumed his erstwhile position at the short hole, and won at the fifteenth.

Mr. Graham showed rare grit against Mr. De Zoete. Winning the first, fourth, eighth, and ninth holes, and losing only the second, where his ball was buried deep in rough grass, he had the match squared with nine to go. Then ensued some exciting give and take, Mr. Graham winning the tenth, thirteenth, and fifteenth, and Mr. De Zoete the eleventh, twelfth, and fourteenth holes. The fifteenth was made noteworthy by a brilliant recovery by Mr. Graham from the bunker, which he followed up with a long putt for a 3. Playing the bold game, Mr. Graham won the long hole, but, not to be beaten, his plucky opponent drew level again at the seventeenth. Both carried the bunker at the last hole with their seconds, but, with the easier approach putt to play, the Scotchman won the hole, and there-with the closest of matches.

Mr. Balfour-Melville squared with Mr. Pease at the first hole, but the latter got on the lead again at the fourth, and, forging ahead, won by four and two.

Mr. Fergusson and Mr. Fry had another stubborn set to. At the turn the latter had reduced his leeway to a hole, but matters returned to the old position at the tenth. Eventually Mr. Fergusson won at the seventeenth hole, and gave Scotland their fourth point, with three matches to finish.

Mr. Castle played a particularly strong game against Mr. Robb. He won the first hole by a stinnie, and the second on his merits in 4. Mr. Robb won the third in 4, but four well-played halves made Mr. Castle's position all but impregnable, and winning the next three holes in 4's, he inflicted on Mr. Robb probably the heaviest defeat he has ever sustained.

Mr. Fowler and Mr. Hunter proved more equally matched than in the forenoon. The latter had lopped a hole off his adverse balance by the time the turn was reached, but Mr. Fowler, securing the eleventh and thirteenth holes, won by six and five.

His victory placed the countries on level terms, so that all depended on the result of the game between Mr. Smith and Mr. Dick. It was known that Mr. Dick had wiped out his morning deficit in the first nine holes, and that they were still on level terms at the twelfth. Thereupon the spectators of the other matches flocked en masse to see them. Mr. Dick's approach to the thirteenth got an unfortunate rub, and was so badly bunkered that he lost the hole. He, however, squared the match with a useful putt at the short hole, only to stand one down again at the fifteenth, where he missed a very short putt. The sixteenth was halved, but, amidst growing excitement, Mr. Dick won the seventeenth with an eight-foot putt. Both got well on to the home green in 2, but, giving the odds, Mr. Dick was very short. Mr. Smith, on the other hand, was equal to the occasion, and, getting down in 4, won the match and victory for England. Details:

Mr. E. Maxwell (Scotland) beat Mr. J. Ball (England) by seven up and six to play.

Mr. H. H. Hilton (England) beat Mr. J. E. Laidlay (Scotland) by nine up and seven to play.

Mr. F. McKenzie (Scotland) beat Mr. H. G. Hutchinson (England) by five up and three to play.

Mr. J. Graham (Scotland) beat Mr. H. W. De Zoete (England) by one hole.

Mr. J. B. Pease (England) beat Mr. L. M. Balfour-Melville (Scotland) by four up and two to play.

Mr. S. M. Fergusson (Scotland) beat Mr. S. H. Fry (England) by two up and one to play.

Mr. H. G. Castle (England) beat Mr. J. Robb (Scotland) by ten up and eight to play.

Mr. W. H. Fowler (England) beat Mr. N. F. Hunter (Scotland) by six up and five to play.

Mr. G. F. Smith (England) beat Mr. C. E. Dick (Scotland) by one hole.

England, five matches; Scotland four.

The arrangements, alike for the Championship and International, were of the most complete character, and thanks are due to Mr. Hugh Patten, Hon. Secretary of the Honourable Company of Edinburgh Golfers, who bore the brunt of a heavy week, for his unfailing courtesy and kindness.

THE PROFESSIONAL INTERNATIONAL MATCH.

ENGLAND v. SCOTLAND.

A PROFESSIONAL INTERNATIONAL CONTEST with twelve a-side was inaugurated at Prestwick on Monday, June 8th of last year, under the auspices of the Professional Golfers' Association.

The inclusion of such players as Andrew Kirkaldy and Archie Simpson would materially have strengthened the Scotch team, but they were ineligible, inasmuch as they were not members of the Association. Singles were played in the morning and four-somes in the afternoon, each game won counting a point. The weather was delightfully fine, and play was followed with interest by a large crowd. In view of his brilliant display at Barassie on the previous Saturday, much was expected from H. Vardon, who led off against Braid; but he seemed quite off colour. Although Braid sliced his ball on to the railway, Vardon lost the first hole, a slack second being badly bunkered. He also missed his pitch to the second hole, and thus early became two down. By a long putt he won the dreaded "Cardinal" hole in 4, but lost the fifth (the "Himalayas"), where Braid holed his pitch from the rough. At the three succeeding holes it was give and take, and, with a half at the ninth, Braid turned one up. Coming home, Braid had matters almost all his own way. A neat little pitch won him the tenth in 4, and, playing the bold game to the twelfth, he secured it also. Vardon overshot the thirteenth green with his second, and dropped further behind, and the end came at the next hole, when he missed a short putt for a half.

J. H. Taylor and A. Herd proved more equally matched, but the latter was generally called upon to play the odds through the green. Taylor took the lead at the third hole, which he had in 3, and added another hole to his bag when he ran down a ten yards putt for a 2 at the "Himalayas." It was Herd's turn to distinguish himself at the sixth, where he holed a six yards putt, but matters looked like returning to their erstwhile position when Taylor laid his pitch to the ninth practically dead. A stinnie, however, came in opportunely for Herd. Eliminating this, Taylor required only 33 strokes for the outward half—very fine golf indeed. Herd, taking three putts on the tenth green, lost the hole, and he had his work cut out to halve the next after being bunkered. Herd carried the dyke with his second to the twelfth, and won it easily, but a good approach and putt gave Taylor the fourteenth. Losing the fifteenth and winning the sixteenth, Taylor became dormy, and a half in 5 at the Alps terminated a well-played match in his favour.

A peculiar interest attached to the meeting of T. Vardon and J. White, inasmuch as the former had won somewhat unexpectedly when last they met. But history repeated itself, for Vardon, after losing the first hole, squared at the third, and then forged ahead. Out in 36, he had three holes in hand, and, sticking to his advantage, he won on the sixteenth green.

E. Ray and J. Kinnell had a tight match. It was all to play for with four to go, but, winning the two succeeding holes, and halving the seventeenth, Kinnell was hailed the victor. Showing a near approach to his old form, Willie Park proved too strong for R. Jones, whom he beat by six and five; but the veteran W. Fernie took P. Rainford to the last hole. Here the latter got down a long putt, and Fernie, failing with the like from three yards, lost by a hole.

Turning one up, Sayers beat J. Sherlock by three and two, but F. Collins's win over C. R. Smith by two holes was scarcely "according to Cocker." When T. G. Renouf and A. Tingey each in turn scored wins over R. Thomson and G. Hepburn, England's victory in the singles seemed assured, but G. Coburn and J. Kay came to the rescue, and honours remained easy at the close of the forenoon's play.

- J. Braid (Scotland) beat H. Vardon (England) by five and four.
- J. H. Taylor (England) beat A. Herd (Scotland) by two and one.
- T. Vardon (England) beat J. White (Scotland) by three and two.
- J. Kinnell (Scotland) beat E. Ray (England) by two and one.
- W. Park (Scotland) beat R. Jones (England) by six and five.
- P. Rainford (England) beat W. Fernie (Scotland) by one hole.
- B. Sayers (Scotland) beat J. Sherlock (England) by three and two.

F. Collins (England) beat C. R. Smith (Scotland) by two holes.

T. G. Renouf (England) beat R. Thomson (Scotland) by three and two.

A. Tingey (England) beat G. Hepburn (Scotland) by three and two.

G. Coburn (Scotland) beat W. G. Toogood (England) by three and two.

J. Kay (Scotland) beat J. Rowe (England) by three and two.

The first of the foursomes attracted a large gathering of spectators, who were rewarded by some exciting play. Interest was sustained until the last green, and the cheering was both long and loud when Braid and Herd won by a putt. Two halves opened the round, but a useful putt by Braid won the third. Taylor missed a short putt for a half at the fourth, and after winning the fifth, repeated his mistake at the sixth. The Scotchmen went further ahead at the seventh, where Taylor was again weak on the green; but a slack approach putt by Braid lost them the eighth. Playing the long odds to the ninth hole, Braid holed with a long steal for a 4, but Vardon ran down the like from five yards. Braid and Herd two up at the turn. The Englishmen lost the eleventh, en route to which Taylor was bunkered, but they won the twelfth, Braid's tee shot having lain heavily. Herd was trapped going to the next hole, but, laying his run up dead, Braid wrested a half in 5. Holing a long putt for a 3 at the fourteenth hole, Vardon narrowed the gap to a single hole, and the match was squared at the fifteenth, Herd's drive to which was pulled into rough country. Braid's drive to the sixteenth was caught in a small bunker, and the Englishmen took the lead for the first time. With a real good putt of fully five yards, Braid squared accounts at the "Alps." Consequently everything depended on the last hole. After the drives, Herd had to give the odds. With a deft little pitch, he laid the ball within easy holing distance, but Taylor's like barely reached the green. Vardon made a bold, but unsuccessful, bid for a half, whereupon Braid, running down the like, won a grand match.

It was give and take nearly all the way between the second couples. After being two down at the third, White and Kinnell turned one up, but the game was level at the thirteenth. Of the four succeeding holes, the Scotchmen won two and halved two, and so won by two and one.

Park and Fernie also turned one up against Jones and Rainford, and, forging ahead, won comfortably at the fifteenth hole.

Scotland's victory now seemed assured, but, when the next two English couples accounted cleverly for the opposition, everything depended upon the result of the last match. Coburn and Kay, however, proved equal to the occasion, and, halving their match at the last hole, gave Scotland a victory by a single point. Details :

J. Braid and A. Herd (Scotland) beat H. Vardon and J. H. Taylor (England) by one hole.

J. White and J. Kinnell (Scotland) beat T. Vardon and E. Ray (England) by two and one.

W. Park and W. Fernie (Scotland) beat R. Jones and P. Rainford (England) by four and three.

J. Sherlock and F. Collins (England) beat B. Sayers and C. R. Smith (Scotland) by two and one.

T. G. Renouf and A. Tingey (England) beat R. Thomson and G. Hepburn (Scotland) by two holes.

G. Coburn and J. Kay (Scotland) halved with W. G. Toogood and J. Rowe (England).

THE GOLFING CHAMPIONSHIP, 1903.

NEVER in the history of the leading event of the golfing year has there been such a long day's play as at Prestwick on Wednesday, June 10th of last year. From half-past eight in the morning until eight o'clock in the evening the ringing crack of the well-struck ball was heard on the famous Ayrshire links. Out of an entry list of 127 only three failed to answer to their names, and it may truthfully be said that not even a fourth had the slenderest of chances.

Curiously enough, it fell to the redoubtable Harry Vardon to set the pace for the field, of whom J. Braid, A. Herd, J. H. Taylor, and Messrs. H. H. Hilton and R. Maxwell were alone considered seriously in the running. The day found Vardon in his finest form. Perhaps his only mistake to the turn was his missing of a shortish putt at the second hole, but as a set-off to this he only required a single putt on the fifth, seventh, and ninth greens. Turning in 35, he came home steadily in 38, and set his opponents a task which, as it turned out, Herd only was able to equal. E. Gray, of Littlehampton, did well to finish within four strokes of the Ex-Champion, and similar remarks apply to A. H. Scott, of Elie. With his foot upon his native links, J. Hunter tied with Scott and Gray thus far, but T. Vardon went one better. With four holes to go he was all square with his brother, but, getting bunkered en route to the fifteenth, he dropped two strokes, and a 5 also cropped up at the second last hole. Jack White kept well in the running with 77, in which were few mistakes. J. H. Taylor had a sturdy opponent in A. Kirkealdy, but neither played up to his usual form, and with scores of 80 and 82 they thus early relegated themselves to a comparatively obscure position. Herd, as already stated, equalled Harry Vardon's round. Turning in 36 he came home brilliantly in 37. The features of his his play were his fine recoveries from the bunker beyond the first green, and in the bunker guarding the eleventh, and he well deserved the hearty cheers he received when he holed a good 3 to finish with. T. Williamson, of Nottingham, did well to finish in 76, his second half in 37 representing real good golf. Messrs. Hilton and Maxwell proved a bit off colour. Neither settled down properly, and their rounds of 81 and 82 sadly disappointed their supporters. Of the cracks it fell to J. Braid to act as whipper-in. There was little wrong with his play outward in 37, for the wind had now freshened, but there were too many 5's in his home-coming. Yet, with another 77, he kept well in the running. Others had good rounds also, but space will not permit of further comment. Suffice it that at the close of the first round the leaders were: H. Vardon and A. Herd, 73;

T. Vardon and T. Williamson, 76; and E. Gray, H. Scott, J. Hunter, and J. White, 77.

In the afternoon H. Vardon, during the greater part of the round, excelled even his first essay. Out in 37, with the grandest of 4's to the ninth hole, he backed this up with a string of five consecutive 4's. Overshooting the fifteenth green with his approach, he dropped a stroke here, and he came a bad cropper at the seventeenth. He was twice bunkered, and, after recovering well, required three putts. Thus his round, which at one time was so full of promise, panned out at 77. Of the other leaders Gray fell away to the extent of six, and T. Vardon of five shots, but Scott repeated his morning round. A few couples later a big surprise was sprung by W. Hunter, of Richmond. Out in 38, he came finely home in two less, his round of 74 being the lowest of the afternoon. White had a splendid chance of bettering his first essay, but he missed three successive putts coming home, and totalled 78. Kirkealdy slightly improved on his morning round, but Taylor went from bad to worse, and has seldom been so far behind at the conclusion of the first day's play in a Championship. Williamson recorded an 80, but still kept in the forefront. Of the amateurs, Mr. Maxwell with 84 fell quite out of the running, but Mr. Hilton seemed about to create a sensation when he took the first eleven holes in 43. Thereafter, however, he played slackly, and what looked like a brilliant effort frittered out at 79. Herd played a characteristic second round. 40 out was not so bad, but he was frequently at fault thereafter, and required three strokes more for the second half. With the arrival of Braid about half an hour from the close all interest evaporated. Although he went out in 39 he might have been two strokes better, for he missed shortish putts at the sixth and eighth holes. Indeed, he took the thirteenth hole in 3 in virtue of a fifteen yards putt. But he played the fourteenth hole miserably. He sliced his drive badly, and, after recovering, sliced his approach, and down went a 6 for a 4 hole. His round was 79, and all he could do was to tie for fifth place with Herd, Williamson, and J. Hunter. Vardon, as a result of the first day's play, led by four strokes from Scott, who in turn held an advantage of one stroke over W. Hunter and White.

Thursday, June 11th, was another glorious day, and thousands of spectators flocked to the links. The order of despatch was as follows:—

J. W. Taylor and G. H. Cawsey.	W. Auchterlonie and J. White.
P. Rainford and A. Kirkealdy.	W. Fernie and E. Kay.
W. Hunter and A. Bellworthly.	R. Thomson and A. H. Scott.
J. H. Oke and A. Herd.	A. Lewis and Mr. H. H. Hilton.
A. H. Toogood and A. Simpson.	J. A. Cassidy and C. Neaves.
Mr. J. Robb and W. Park.	Mr. R. W. Orr and T. Vardon.
G. Pultford and H. Vardon.	G. Sargent and B. Sayers.
L. Gourlay and J. Kinnell.	A. Beek and E. Gray.
J. Hunter and Mr. R. Maxwell.	Mr. R. Andrew and T. Williamson.
F. Larke and W. E. Reid.	J. H. Taylor and J. Kay.
W. J. Leaver and D. Kinnell.	G. Coburn and A. Massy.
H. Cawsey and J. Parr.	J. Milne and Mr. J. A. Donaldson.
J. Hughes and Mr. J. E. Laidlay.	T. Yeoman and F. Collins.
J. Braid and J. B. Batley.	E. Foord and W. McEwan.
J. Hepburn and J. Hill.	R. Jones and partner.

Of the players left in the running W. Hunter started first. By steady play he reached the turn in 38, but came to grief at the fourteenth and seventeenth holes, and his round totalled to 79. Immediately in his wake Herd played sterling golf during the greater part of the round. Strokes were dropped on the eighth and fourteenth greens, and he was unluckily bunkered at the seventeenth, where his ball would have been on the green had it not hit a spectator. His round of 76 kept him well to the front. H. Vardon, who was partnered by G. Pultford, naturally took away a crowd from the first tee, and they were rewarded by seeing the great player at his best. Going out his only mistake was a pulled drive to the fourth hole, which cost him a shot, and he reached the turn in 34. Five successive 4's further fortified his position, his second to the thirteenth being a perfect picture of a shot, laid five feet from the pin. His drive to the fifteenth was slightly pulled, and lay heavily in heather. He made a fine recovery, but, overshooting the green, he lost a stroke. He carried the bluff at the "Alps" in two, but his ball was trapped in a whin, and he had to hole a useful putt to secure a 5. A 4 concluded a magnificent round of 72, which is a competition record for the links. J. Hunter wrecked his chances by taking 84, and Braid did nothing to better his with 79. The fourth hole proved a bad one for him. Bunkered from the tee, his ball cannoned out of bounds off the sleepers in the bunker, and down a 7 had perforce to go for an easy 4 hole. White, on the other hand, did good work—out in 38, he came home splendidly in 36, despite the fact that he missed his drive to the fourteenth. Yet withal he was at this stage seven strokes behind H. Vardon. Scott, the erstwhile runner up, began badly with a 7, and also threw away several shots in the homeward journey. His round was 83. T. Vardon bettered his prospects appreciably by a steadily compiled 75, but Williamson dropped a bit behind with a 79.

With one round to go, H. Vardon's fourth Championship victory seemed as good as assured. In the afternoon Pulford made him the best of partners. Indeed, he turned finely in 34, three strokes to the good. Coming home, Pulford for the most part continued to play in telling style, but Vardon had bad luck as his portion. Although he carried the dyke at the twelfth with a raking second, he found his ball buried deep in a clump of bents, and took two strokes to extricate it. Playing a safe game afterwards, he finished the round in 78, and it was at once recognised that his aggregate of 300 had put him in an impregnable position, for Herd had already recorded 309, and it was not at all likely any of the others could approach this record Championship performance. White started none too well on his final course, a 7 to the "Cardinal" hole being a stiff handicap; but he got round in 79 despite this. His aggregate of 308 was deemed good enough for second honours, but a fine 74 by the younger Vardon relegated him to third place. Next came Herd and Braid, while A. H. Scott and that rising young player, R. Thomson, of North Berwick, tied for the remaining prizes. Of the others, Mr. R. Maxwell and J. H. Taylor, who had done badly on the first day, showed something like their true form, but their efforts came too late.

The Championship Medal and prizes were presented in front of the Clubhouse by the veteran Mr. D. D. Whigham, whose few remarks were particularly appropriate and well chosen. With this pleasing ceremony ended probably the most successful Championship yet held, and a great and deserved triumph for the brothers Vardon and England.

Subjoined are the Champion's card, the order of the prize list, and full scores :

MR. H. E. READE.
IRISH AMATEUR CHAMPION, 1903.

THE IRISH AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP, 1903.

No fewer than six previous Champions took part in the Irish Native Championship at Portrush last year. They were expected to find the strongest opposition from such doughty players as the Hon. E. Gibson and Mr. C. Stewart-Moore, but, as the sequel will show, Mr. H. E. Reade, probably the best known player in the "Emerald Isle," won his third Championship, after showing fine form throughout.

On the opening day (Wednesday, May 27th) a dual ex-Champion in Mr. W. H. Webb, fell straightaway before Mr. F. Dickson, the Derry crack, and Mr. C. S. Harden sprung a mild surprise at the expense of Mr. D. Christie. On the morning of the following day Messrs. W. H. Boyd, T. Dickson, F. B. Newett, J. Stewart-Moore, and H. E. Reade all won their matches, but Messrs. Newett and Reade alone survived the succeeding round. Mr. Newett beat Mr. Dickson with unexpected ease, and nearly as pronounced was Dr. R. A. Campbell's win over Mr. Stewart-Moore, the Malahide representative's display being steady and accurate to a degree. On Friday, in the fourth round, all four matches were fairly close, and as the outcome Messrs. Newett and Reade and Dr. Campbell and the Hon. E. Gibson remained in the place of hope. In the afternoon against the holder (Mr. Newett) Dr. Campbell gave a further taste of his quality. Taking the lead at the seventh hole, he held to it tenaciously and won on the seventeenth green. On the other hand Mr. Reade beat the Hon. Gibson comfortably, the latter being completely off colour. The final, played on the Saturday in showery weather, was a determined tussle for the greater part of the way. At the conclusion of the forenoon round Dr. Campbell stood two up, but Mr. Reade drew level in the afternoon at the third hole, and turned with a hole in hand. Just when a close finish seemed on the cards, however, Dr. Campbell broke down. Mr. Reade won four holes in succession, and, halving the fourteenth, was hailed victor for the third time.

The medals were distributed by Colonel Pottinger, Captain of the Royal Portrush Golf Club. Details :—

MR. GEORGE WILKIE.
IRISH OPEN AMATEUR CHAMPION, 1903.

(By kind permission of Golf Illustrated.)

IRISH OPEN AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP, 1903.

THE twelfth annual Irish Open Championship, held at Portmarnock, on September 1st and the four succeeding days, attracted an entry of 90, including the holder (Mr. H. H. Hilton), a previous runner-up in Mr. S. H. Fry, Mr. H. E. Reade, the Irish native Champion, ex-Champions in Messrs. J. Stewart-Moore, R. G. N. Henry, and W. H. Boyd, and quite a host of promising young Scotch players, headed by Mr. George Wilkie, the Leven crack.

In the first round a great surprise was sprung by Mr. A. S. Richardson (Romford) at the expense of Mr. Fry, who was compelled to resign as early as the fifteenth hole; and his old opponent, Mr. A. Macdonald, one of the Muirfield Bronze Medallists, had also to admit defeat from Mr. H. G. Castle. There were likewise two ding-dong contests between the Birmingham crack, Mr. C. A. Palmer, and Mr. A. B. Babington, and those promising young Scotchmen, Messrs. J. F. Mitchell and H. A. Purdom, to add zest to the proceedings thus early. In the second round Mr. Richardson emphasised his previous good form by ousting Mr. Castle, and Mr. Hilton proved too heavy metal for Mr. Henry. The third round saw Mr. W. Paterson (Watsonians) spring a mild surprise at the expense of another Irish native ex-Champion in Mr. J. Stewart-Moore, but the other results were pretty much as anticipated. In the fourth round Ireland's reputed strongest candidate, Mr. H. E. Reade, fell an easy prey to Mr. F. Gordon, an Irvine youth, but Mr. C. Stewart-Moore beat Mr. Richardson with more in hand than was expected. With the afternoon of the third day (Thursday) came the biggest surprise of the competition. Excelling himself at every point, Mr. H. A. Boyd gave the holder no quarter going out. The latter, although he reached the turn in 39, stood four down, and the end came in the Irishman's favour at the sixteenth hole. Of the others, Messrs. Wilkie and Gordon easily qualified for the "semi-finals," but the Portmarnock

Hon. Secretary had his work cut out to beat Mr. Jennings, of Cork. In the first "semi-final" Mr. Gordon fell softly before Mr. Wilkie, but, dogged as ever, Mr. Pickeman took Mr. Boyd to the last green. The final on Saturday, September 5th, if it did not see either player at his best, was exciting enough in all conscience. Mr. Wilkie seemed to be in a comfortable position at the close of the forenoon round, for he had three holes in hand, and this was still the state of affairs in the afternoon at the twelfth hole. Mr. Boyd won the thirteenth hole, but all seemed over when he stood two down and only three to go. Mr. Wilkie, however, palpably disconcerted by a rather partisan crowd, lost the two succeeding holes. All square and one to go. Both got away fair drives, but Mr. Boyd missed his second, and Mr. Wilkie won his first Championship by a putt. His victory was well deserved, but it is a pity both could not win, so splendidly had they acquitted themselves throughout a trying week. Details:—

" SANDY ROSS."

Many golfers of old now lie 'neath the mould,
And the links know them no more ;
And few we now claim who can show how the game
Was played in the days of yore.
While we make sad moan o'er these good men gone,
It helps us to bear our loss,
That men still are seen on the golfing green
Like good old Sandy Ross.

'Tis a pleasure to see his address at the tee,
Where he stands the observed of all ;
With sure, easy swing his club he will bring,
Like pendulum stroke, to the ball.
And the ball, like a bird, quick startled and stirred
From the covert that held it close ;
Your pulses will stir as it flies with a whirr
From the club of old Sandy Ross.

To each hole as he goes perfect golf he aye shows,
'Tis a lesson that tyros ne'er tire on ;
With driver and brassy, cleck, baffy, and mashie,
And the Musselburgh iron.
You will find him no funkier at hazard or bunker.
What to do he is ne'er at a loss ;
Should his ball chance to land in gorse, grass, or sand,
'Tis all one to old Sandy Ross.

Tho' the Championship he has ever let slip,
When caught in the humour and fit,
With a trifle of luck, his skill, and his pluck,
That honour he may grasp yet.
Many records he's done, many good prizes won,
In Medal and Cup and Cross ;
No golfer I know can make such a show
As good old Sandy Ross.

Kind Fortune has smiled on her favourite child,
And his love for the Royal game
Never caused him to feel lack of ardour or zeal
In wooing and winning the dame.
Yet her charms he would view with looks all askew,
And her rich gifts value as dross,
Could they smother the fire of fond golfing desire
That burns in old Sandy Ross.

May each golfer here in the game we hold dear
A pleasure and comfort aye find ;
May his drives keep the line and his short game be fine,
And his partner, aye, one to his mind.
And the grand old game, may its name and its fame,
Aye, shine with the brightest gloss ;
And in foul day or fair, may it ne'er want a player
Like good old Sandy Ross.

ANON.

THE OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE GOLFING SOCIETY'S AMERICAN TOUR.

Reprinted from the Society's Annual Report, by kind permission of the Hon. Secretary.

ON the afternoon of July 30th Messrs. J. L. Low, T. M. Hunter, N. F. Hunter, J. A. T. Bramston, H. G. B. Ellis, P. W. Leathart, G. D. Barne, C. H. Alison, D. F. Ranson, C. N. Day, and H. W. Beveridge, assembled at Princes Landing Stage, Liverpool, in readiness to embark on the Dominion Liner Mayflower for Boston. It was with feelings of dismay that we learnt that she had touched the ground coming out of dock on her way to the landing stage and could not sail until she had been surveyed. Some of our friends from the Royal Liverpool Golf Club had come to the landing stage to wish us "bon voyage," and our drooping spirits were revived that evening by a dinner at the Racket Club, where we were entertained by Messrs. Holroyd and Janion. Before we rose from the table the doctor to our team declared he did not mind the boat being a few days late in sailing, as he had made acquaintance with a kind of port which he really liked. After a weary day of waiting, we finally left the Mersey on the afternoon of August 1st, and on the 10th landed at Boston all fit and well. We were met at the dock by President Windeler, and other officials of the U. S. G. A., and that afternoon were taken out to the Myopia Hunt Club, where we were "scheduled" to play our first match against a picked team of Intercollegiate Golfers the next day. The delay to the Mayflower had left us very little time for practice if we were to stick to the programme Mr. Windeler had arranged for us, and any alteration would have caused great inconvenience. In the evening our Committeemen and the officials of the

U. S. G. A. had a meeting at the Somerset Hotel in Boston, and we arranged that we should play the first half of the Inter-collegiate match on the following afternoon, and the singles on the morning of the 12th. We also agreed that as far as possible we should decide all the matches of the tour by five four-ball matches in the mornings and ten singles in the afternoons, each match to count one point and be played to a finish, with the exception that the All-American match should be nine a side, 36 holes singles.

At the end of the afternoon's play on the 11th we found that we had won three and lost two of the four-ball matches, two of which required extra holes to be played before any decision could be arrived at.

On the following morning we played eleven singles, as the Interecollegiates had got together a side of eleven from considerable distances and with Alison to finish were leading by 8 points to 7 on the whole match. He was downy 1 down but pulled the match out of the fire at the 19th hole. Almost before we had time to realise we had won our first match by 9 points to 7 we were hurried off to the Essex County Club for luncheon and an afternoon's round before playing a Massachusetts State team there the following day. For the same reason as in the previous match, we played eleven a side in the singles, and the result was a tie at 8 points each. Our stay in the Boston district was all too short; by the time the tour was over we all thought Myopia was as good as any of the courses we played on, while Essex County reminded one of Byfleet on a larger scale. I think that for these two matches none of us had quite got going; we had not had time to get rid of our sea legs, and with the change of climate we were, as the American reporters put it, "a bit under the weather."

On the following morning, accompanied by Mr. Windeler, we left Boston for Chicago, and arrived there about mid-day on Saturday the 15th. A Committee meeting of the Society was held on board the train, at which it was decided to invite the President of the U. S. G. A. to become an extraordinary member of the Society.

Members will be glad to know that Mr. Windeler honoured the Society by accepting this invitation, and the colours suit him admirably. The Society colours were "spoiled" by two other Americans during our stay in the West, but the rules of the Society, unfortunately, prevented us extending any invitation to honorary membership to them. We stayed at the Wheaton Country Club, where we played a match against an All-Western team on the Monday. In the morning we won three and lost two of the four-ball matches; the one which aroused most interest being that where my brother and myself defeated the Egan cousins by 1 up. The feature of the day, however, was N. F. Hunter's 71 in his single with Chandler Egan, the previous best for the course being 74 by Harry Vardon. We won the match by 11 points to 5.

The next morning those of us who felt strong enough visited the Stockyards in Chicago before going on to Glenview, and were shown over Messrs. Armour & Co.'s works. It was a wonderful, but unpleasant, experience. As we had not time for a full practice round at Glenview, the match against the All-Chicago team was decided by eleven 18-holes single matches on the Wednesday afternoon. We won by 7 matches to 4. After a banquet at the Glenview Club we returned to Chicago and next morning caught a special train to Flossmoor, where we took part in an 18-holes tournament at the Homewood Country Club. The handsome cup was collected by Bramston with a score of 75, which was a record for this latest of the Chicago courses.

In the evening we had to catch our train for Niagara, and were all very sorry to bid farewell to our Chicago friends. They had treated us with the greatest kindness, hospitality, and consideration, and in thanking them all generally one must mention particularly Messrs. E. P. Martin and H. M. Bates, the President and Treasurer of the Western Golf Association.

At 6.30 a.m. next morning we were turned out of the train at Niagara, and after breakfast viewed the falls, made the journey down the riverside and back on the trolley-cars, and about noon caught a train to Buffalo. Here we boarded the Empire State Express and about 10.30 p.m. arrived at New York. Messrs. Heebner and Ballou and other officials of the U. S. G. A. met us at the Great Central Station, and when one of these gentlemen "guessed we must have gone through a pretty strenuous time since landing," I do not think any member of the team felt in the least disposed to contradict him.

On the Saturday, through the kindness of Mr. Maturin Ballou, we were the guests of the New York Yacht Club on the steamer Monmouth, and witnessed the first race of the series between the Reliance and the Shamrock which came to a definite conclusion. Unfortunately Barne and Alison were unable to take much interest in the race.

Mr. Windeler now left us for a time, and for the matches in the New York district we were chaperoned by Mr. Adrian Larkin. Under his guidance we found ourselves at Garden City on the Sunday afternoon. On the 24th we met the Metropolitan team here, and after winning all the four-ball matches in the morning, only managed to snatch a victory by 8 points to 7 in the whole match, Leathart, Beveridge, and Ranson being the only three to win their singles. The next day we journeyed to Shinnecock Hills—also on Long Island—where our practice round in the afternoon was cut short by a miniature tornado. We took part in a medal competition the following morning, when W. J. Travis and F. O. J. Alsop tied with 74 for first place, Ellis being next with a 76. In the afternoon we played against a team of Shinnecock Visitors—the majority of them Intercollegiates—and were successful by 8 matches to 3. We were soon back at Garden City, and on the 29th met an All-Eastern team—the strongest we had yet come up against. It was certainly our day out and was the best performance of the team as a whole throughout the tour. We won four of the four-ball matches and eight of the singles. Low inflicted on Travis the only defeat he suffered in team matches at our hands. It was a wet and windy day, which I think was rather in our favour.

We were now able to look forward to a week's rest while the U. S. G. A.'s Amateur Championship was being decided at Nassau. Nassau is within easy reach of Garden City, and as our next engagement was the All-America match there on September 7th, we retained the Garden City Hotel as our base. The week was spent in excursions to New York, Coney Island, a trip on the Sound on Mr. Maxwell's yacht, and we also watched the progress of the Championship and got acquainted with the Nassau course. This was the only match of the tour we lost, and I think all through it was the closest. At lunch time we had short leads in six matches, one was all square.

Travis had a lead of 3 on Low, and Bruce Smith was too far ahead of Ellis. At the end of the day it was 5 matches to 4 against us.

In the evening the teams were entertained at the Nassau Country Club by the U. S. G. A., and the players were presented with medals commemorative of the first International match. On the 8th we arrived at the Baltusrol course at Short Hills, where we played a team representing the New Jersey State Association on the following day, and defeated them by 10 matches to 6, as eleven a side were played in the singles.

The next morning we had to say good-bye to Barne and Leathart, who sailed from New York on the Cedric on the 11th, and the remaining nine of us drove to Elizabethtown, where we met a special train, which conveyed us to the Huntingdon Valley course at Noble under the escort of "Uncle Sam," otherwise known as Mr. Heebner, the Treasurer of the U. S. G. A. We played the Philadelphian team on Saturday the 12th, and won all the four-ball matches, and seven out of the nine singles. My own single against A. M. Tillinghast, and my brother's against George T. Cooke being all square after 19 holes had been played, they were, by mutual consent, left in that condition, and we thus won by 11 points to 0. In the evening we went into Philadelphia, where we were entertained at the Bellevue Hotel, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. On Sunday we had a splendid day at Atlantic City, for which we were very much indebted to Mr. Voorhees, the Vice-President of the Pennsylvania and Reading Railroad. A special train made the journey of 55 miles in 45 minutes, and it was not long before we were on the beach in bathing costumes. Since returning home we have received from Mr. Heebner photographic souvenirs of this most delightful day. In the evening we took leave of our Philadelphian friends and returned to New York from Atlantic City. Our "schedule" of matches was now over, and there only remained the invitation tournament at Ekwanok. Braunston and Ranson were unable to accompany us to Manchester, Vermont, and we said farewell to them in New York—a long farewell to the latter, as he started for China very soon after returning home. Ekwanok is a pretty place in the mountains, and after more bunkers have been added the course will be one of the best in America. The arrangements for the tournament were attended to by Mr. Windeler, and twenty-five American golfers had been invited to take part to make the numbers up to thirty-two.

Alison and Day fell out in the first round, and in the following rounds Eben M. Byers accounted for Low and Ellis. In the third round N. F. Hunter only beat Travis at the last green after winning the first six holes off the reel with four threes and two fours. The semi-finalists were Byers and myself and N. F. Hunter and Beveridge. N. F. Hunter beat Beveridge on the 18th green, and I lost to Byers after five extra holes had been played in pouring rain. As it cleared in the afternoon the final was started, but when the players got to the 16th hole another terrific rain storm and darkness came on, and the game being all square it was agreed to abandon the match and play another round the following day. On the following morning, the 18th, Byers—who has been runner up in the Amateur Championship for the last two years—won on the last green. His victory, which was as popular with us as with the American competitors, was duly celebrated at the hotel in the evening, and even “Washington” came off “the water-waggon.”

Ellis, Alison, and Beveridge sailed for home soon after the conclusion of the tournament. Low, Day, N. F. Hunter, and myself did not leave New York till October 9th, and in that interval we paid various visits, the most enjoyable of which was one to Yale University, where we spent about a week as the guests of J. F. Byers, Stuart Campbell, and Archie Reid.

Now the rest of the acts of the Society and the folding-bed which almost entrapped the Secretary, and the gas which almost suffocated the Captain, and all that they did, are they not written and enlarged upon in the Public Press of two continents?

And so this very bald narrative of our journeyings must come to a close. As I write it I read of our Captain opening a new course in the desert at Assouan, and am therefore deprived of his help and advice in its composition. But I know he would not like me to close it without once more putting on record our deep sense of gratitude to the President and Officers of the United States Golf Association for the trouble they took in arranging the details of the tour. And our thanks are also due to all the American golfers with whom we were brought in contact —whether as combatants or non-combatants—for the unfailing kindness, courtesy, and hospitality which we experienced wherever we went. If they can retain recollections of our visit just half as pleasant as those which the members of our team have carried home with them, the Society can congratulate itself on the fact that the first American tour was not made in vain.

T. MANSFIELD HUNTER,

Hon. Secretary.

BERWICK-ON-TWEED GOLF CLUB.

THIS Club, which is composed of lady and gentlemen members, was instituted in 1891. Suitable ground was leased at Goswick, about six miles from Berwick, where an excellent round of eighteen holes was laid out, and a comfortable little Club-house built. The latter, consisting of a general room, ladies' boxroom, and gentlemen's boxroom on the ground floor, with caretaker's house above, is within two minutes' walk of Goswick Station (North-Eastern Railway), and the first tee and home hole are just at hand. Visitors are charged 1s. per day, 2s. 6d. per week, and 5s. per month. Temporary members are admitted at double these rates, and are allowed the privileges of the Clubhouse, but must make application for admission at least two days before they wish such temporary membership to commence.

On the West, only the width of a field separates the course from the main line of the North-Eastern Railway, while the North Sea washes it on the East.

The holes vary in length from 100 to 405 yards, and afford a capital test of golf. The first, which lies almost due south, requires three to reach the green, and a tricky bunker lies in wait for a missed tee shot.

The second hole is placed at almost right angles to the first, and is just a nice drive, the road to Goswick Farm being between the tee and the green.

The third hole cannot be reached in less than three, and requires to be approached with skill to avoid overrunning the green, beyond which is a sandy road that is often visited.

The fourth hole, which lies close to the Lough stream, also requires three to get home. Here the player gets his first glimpse of the sea as he crosses the "Alps" after playing his second shot.

Play is now back towards the North for the fifth green, which lies in a hollow at the foot of a ridge, about 380 yards from the tee.

The tee for the next hole is on the top of the ridge, and the hole is in a punch-bowl green at the foot, about a half-iron shot distant.

The next three holes lie along the valley, where the turf is fine and springy and delightful to walk on.

The tenth is a new hole which has lately been worked in. It lies just beyond a large natural sand bunker, and is close to the beach. For the present the tee will be placed near enough to allow a good shot to reach the green, but woe unto him who fozzles!

The eleventh is a hole of about 400 yards, and is hidden from view by intervening hillocks.

The twelfth is the first of four new holes laid out on the ground recently taken in to the North, and is a par 5.

The thirteenth hole can be reached from the tee, but will probably soon be considerably lengthened, as a new tee some distance back is in contemplation.

The fourteenth is a fine sporting hole, the tee being placed on the top of a ridge, and sufficiently near to allow a good shot across the valley to reach the green on a ridge opposite.

Play is now along the valley to the South, the fifteenth hole being a par 5.

The sixteenth is a short hole, and may be a 2 or a 10.

The seventeenth, which has recently been lengthened, is a good 5, with a bunker to trap an indifferent drive.

The eighteenth hole can be reached with a good swiipe and a pitch. The home green is close to the Club-house, where refreshments may be obtained at moderate cost.

Altogether Goswick is a most desirable course to visit; it is one of the places where a game can still be enjoyed at leisure, and it is becoming better known and growing in favour year by year.

AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP OF INDIA, 1903.

THE Twelfth Annual Championship of India and the East was decided over the course of the Tollygunge Golf Club, Calcutta, on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, December 24th, 25th, and 26th. It attracted a record entry, and interest was maintained from start to finish. The first day was, as usual, taken up with the preliminary stroke competition over four rounds of the green, and the following eight qualified to take part in the final stage by holes:—

	First Round.	Second Round.	Third Round.	Fourth Round.	Total.
Mr. T. Drimmie (Calcutta)	43	43	42	39	167
Mr. L. J. Le Fleming (Calcutta)	41	43	46	41	171
Mr. G. W. Walker (Calcutta)	44	43	45	40	172
Mr. A. F. Simson (Calcutta)	42	44	43	44	173
Mr. J. H. Beavis (Nowara Eliya)	44	44	44	46	178
Mr. N. A. Macleod (Calcutta)	44	46	46	43	179
Mr. D. A. Cuthbert (Calcutta)	46	45	46	44	181
Mr. F. H. E. Lamb (Calcutta)	46	48	44	44	182

The first couple to start in the final stage on Christmas morning were Mr. Cuthbert and Mr. Macleod, the former, in winning, effecting a mild surprise. Mr. Simson had an easy win over Mr. Lamb, who was quite off his game; and Mr. Le Fleming proved too good for Mr. Walker. Mr. Drimmie, however, had a tight match with Mr. Beavis, and wore him down by his sheer steadiness. In the afternoon Mr. Simson qualified for the final at the expense of Mr. Cuthbert; and

Mr. Drimmie, albeit outdriven, beat Mr. Le Fleming at holing out.

In the final tie on the Saturday, Mr Simson, for once in a way badly off his putting, could do nothing against the steadiness of the Calcutta Golf Club's Hon. Secretary, and the latter won easily over the statutory thirty-six holes by seven up and six to play. His victory was the result of wonderfully steady play, and a fitting reward for his hard work in connection with the competition. In addition to the Championship, he was also awarded a special prize for the best score in the qualifying competition. Details:

The Club formerly played on the Aberdeen Links course, but on March 31st, 1888, they opened a private course on the Balgownie Links, situated two miles north of Aberdeen, near the mouth of the Don, conveyance by tramway or cab. The course of eighteen holes is about three and a half miles in length. A commodious Club-house stands on a high hill overlooking the Don, and the view from it embraces the entire coast line from Girdleness to Buchanness.

The Aberdeen Golf Club appear to have come after, and in the place of, a Club called the "Society of Golfers at Aberdeen," instituted May 9th, 1783, a printed copy of whose "Regulations, with a list of the original members and the Laws of Golf," is still extant; but this "Society of Golfers" had become dissolved before the institution of the present Club. A Golf Club must have existed in Aberdeen even before 1783, as the ballot box still in the possession of the Club bears the inscription, "The Aberdeen Golf Club, 1780." The game itself has been played on the Aberdeen Links from time immemorial.

The course, of eighteen holes, is about three-quarters of a mile from Byfleet Station (L. and S.W.R.), and two and a half miles from Woking Station, at both of which cabs are to be had. It is laid out in what used to be a pine forest, but as the soil is sandy and the turf of excellent quality, the course takes high rank as an inland green. The round is over three and a half miles, long holes predominating, and of hazards, both natural and artificial, there are plenty. There is a commodious Club-house.

CAIRO.

CAIRO GOLF CLUB, INSTITUTED 1888.

The golf course is in the grounds of the Khedivial Sporting Club, all members of which are entitled to play. Visitors can become members of the Sporting Club on payment of 1*l.* a month, and there is no separate subscription for golf.

A silver medal, presented to the Club in 1888 by Mr. J. E. Laidlay, is played for annually.

The round consists of twelve holes. There are two more holes, but they are very seldom played. All the holes are difficult of negotiation, and the record is held at 49 by Hastie, the professional. The hazards are trees, bunkers, mud walls, ditches, &c., and the difficulties of the round are added to by the abnormal number of sandy lies and the keenness of the "greens," which are brown patches of puddled earth, over which sand is sprinkled daily.

There is also a course in connection with the Mena House Hotel, only an hour's journey from Cairo. It consists of nine holes (par, 35), and is laid out on a beautiful stretch of grass, in close proximity to the Great Pyramid. As the grass is, however, rather thin, players are requested to play in rubber soles. The hazards are sandy roads, mud walls, &c., and the greens are keen and tricky. Visitors, 10*d.* a day.

The following Medals and Cups have been presented to other Clubs: Royal Blackheath Golf Club, a Silver Cup, 1875; Royal and Ancient Golf Club, St. Andrews, a Silver Cup, 1885; Royal Bombay Golf Club, a Silver Medal, 1881; Madras Golf Club, a Silver Medal, 1881; Colombo Golf Club, a Silver Medal, 1887; Rangoon Golf Club, a Silver Medal, 1887; Penang Golf Club, a Silver Medal, 1888; Ladies' Golf Club, Calcutta, a Silver Bowl, 1891; Barrakpore Golf Club, a Silver Medal, 1892; Mozufferpur Golf Club and Silver Cup, 1899.

The Calcutta Golf Club claims to be the mother Club in India, and in the "Good old days of the Honourable John Company"—by Mr. W. H. Carey—we find the following remarks:—"A Golf Club was established in Calcutta on the 24th March, 1839, of which Lord Ramsay was Captain." Records of the existence of the Club have been traced ten years previous to this, and it would appear that 1839 has been misprinted for 1829. Further proof is from the existence of a large quantity of brass buttons still in the possession of the Club which bear the Scotch Thistle, Golf Arms, and motto "Far and Sure," and the year 1829.

There are two courses of nine holes each on the Maidan, it being too small for eighteen holes. They are situated in the centre of the town. The circuit of the old course is 3160 yards, and of the new course 3061, the par of both being 39. On approval by the Committee, temporary residents in Calcutta may become members of the Club for a period not exceeding four months on payment of a monthly subscription of ten rupees. They shall be entitled to all the privileges of the Club, except playing for medals, prizes, &c., and attending or voting at meetings or balloting for members; but this privilege cannot be claimed a second time in one season. Should a temporary member at any time wish to become a permanent member, half the amount, up to twenty rupees previously paid by him, shall, on his election, be treated as portion of his entrance fee.

CARNOUSTIE ABSTAINERS' GOLF CLUB.CARNOUSTIE MERCANTILE GOLF CLUB, INSTITUTED FEBRUARY, 1896.

Membership is confined to shopkeepers and their assistants, and Tuesday, the weekly half-holiday, is the Club day.

The Carnoustie course, of eighteen holes, is one of the best in the United Kingdom.

The record for the extended course is 74, by A. Smith (professional), on September 17th, 1897. The par of the round is 75.

The starting point for the nine-hole course is close to that for the eighteen-hole one, and although it is commonly called the "duffers'" course, that is indeed a misnomer. It is a thorough test of golf, and the only pity is that many bona fide duffers consider it altogether beneath their dignity to try their tempers on it. The burn, as on the long course, is an inexorable hazard; there is simply no dodging it. There are also bunkers and broken ground galore. The par of the round is 33.

The courses are now kept up by the Police Commissioners of Carnoustie, by whom the links have been acquired for the purposes of golf only, and a Committee comprising members of the local Clubs. A small charge for visitors has been imposed. Carnoustie Station is about five minutes' walk from the links. In the town there are five hotels, besides every variety of private lodgings.

The course, about two and a half miles from the pier at Scalasaig, lies along the western shore of the island, facing the Atlantic, and for bracing air and sea and mountain view, cannot be surpassed. The turf is of the finest description, springy and short: the lies through the green are excellent, and the hazards—bunkers, bracken, rocky knolls, rabbit holes, and a couple of burns—have been well taken advantage of in laying out the course. The greens are good and true, though they are not quite perfect, but this latter defect is easily remedied. The holes vary from 150 to 440 yards, and the total length is about three miles. There are two courses, of eighteen holes each. The old course, as described in Vol. VII. of the ANNUAL, has been altered and considerably extended out towards Embo. The third and eighth holes have been eliminated. The old fifth is now the third hole, but the tee is near the corner of the dyke on top of the hill. No. 4 is the old sixth, and then there are two new holes entirely on the Embo ground, one of them, the sixth, being an ideal short hole of 120 yards, at the foot of the Whinny Brae. A return is then made to the old seventh green, "The Bents," but it is lengthened by 185 yards (new ground). The hole is thus over 500 yards. The course here has been made wider by the removal of some of the bents. The old eighth (Short Hole) and ninth have been run into one, and the former tenth is now the ninth hole. What was the eleventh (the "High Hole") is now the tenth, and following it comes the principal change in the course. The old fourth is now played as the eleventh, but the teeing ground is the same as that formerly used for the twelfth hole. It is thus a rather longer hole. To the next teeing ground one has to walk to the top of the hill—on the town side of the new eleventh putting green to a point not far from the corner of the dyke already mentioned. From there one plays to the old twelfth green—an excellent 5 hole. There is, however, a second tee for this hole, situated on a mound on the sea side of the new eleventh, by which the hole is made a total length of 535 yards. The remainder of the course is as before, only it is under consideration to shorten the thirteenth to a one shot hole. SORRENTO.

SORRENTO GOLF CLUB, INSTITUTED MAY, 1895.

The course, of nine holes, is on an undulating plateau, about a mile long, covered with strong short-cropped grass, and, though hazards are scarce, the course is by no means an easy one. The site is one of the most picturesque in Southern Italy, commanding, as it does, a magnificent view of the two seas and of the marvellously beautiful coasts of Naples, Vesuvius, Ischia, Capri, and Salerno. The height above sea level is from 1600ft. to 1700ft., and, though the pull-up from Sorrento is a long one, a pleasant residence can be found for any golf-playing visitors who require a few weeks in the most salubrious air which the Mediterranean coasts afford in the suburban township of St. Agata, where cheap lodgings and board are always obtainable, and which is situated on the ridge, within a few minutes' walk of the course. In any case, however, the ascent can be made on donkey-back, if the donkey be a good one, in less than three-quarters of an hour from Sorrento itself. In October and November, and again from March to June, the climate is very enjoyable, and, owing to the almost insular position of the Sorrento hills, is cooler and fresher than that of any place in Continental Italy.

The links, about a mile distant from Westward Ho! are the well-known Northam Burrows, which comprise upwards of 1000 acres, and command exquisite views of the Atlantic, Bristol Channel, Exmoor, Lundy Island, Hartland Point, and the estuary of the twin rivers Torridge and Taw. The Club have now secured the manorial rights of the parish of Northam. The course, of eighteen holes, now starts from the hither side of the burn, immediately in front of the Club-house. Two new holes have thus been introduced on the outward journey; and for these the hazards consist mainly of rushes and small watercourses, which in Summer are dry. After this a return is made to the old-established line, conspicuous for the vast bunkers—before which those of almost every other green sink into insignificance—for the tall rushes, which catch the devious driver and oft-times impale his person, and for these wonderful lies throughout the green which have ever been the boast of Westward Ho! Westward Ho! is in close proximity to Bideford, and the railway journey from London can be accomplished in six hours without a change. Buses meet all the trains and convey passengers to Westward Ho! three miles off. There is a first-class Club, the "Union," not quite a mile from the Club-house, containing a handsome reading-room, two billiard-rooms, cardroom, &c. Of this golfers are the principal patrons. Visitors are recommended to the Torridge, Rowena and Villa boarding houses, and Fesketh House. The Royal Hotel, Westward Ho! can also be recommended.

Visitors may be admitted to the use of the Club-house and green by having their names entered in the visitors' book by a member, or if they are members of any recognised Golf Club, by the Secretary, on production of a formal introduction from their Club Secretary, for eight weeks only in one Club year, on payment of two shillings and sixpence a day or ten shillings a week, except during the week preceding and the week of a meeting, when there will be an additional charge of two shillings and sixpence a day, or ten shillings a week. The above payments of ten shillings or 1*l.* shall entitle a visitor to play for a week from the date of payment.

The Club is incorporated with the Mnazi Moya Club, a Club formed to embrace all the other Clubs in the Island, for the purpose of bringing the European residents together during the short time available every day for sport after business hours. Lawn Tennis, Cricket, Croquet, Badminton, &c., &c., are now all united. A new Pavilion has been erected for the Club adjacent to the old Golf Pavilion at the fourth hole. The course consists of nine holes, and the first four are usually played again, making the game finish at the Pavilion. The Hon. Secretary writes: "Any Golfers from home who may be passing South we shall be glad to welcome, and show what we can do. We are fairly proud of our links. The greens are well turfed. Excellent grass lies are the reward of the good player, prickly pear, cactus, and sand bunkers await the unskilful."
